Oldest Former Alderman Of Newton Dies

Word of the passing of James Russell Chandler, Newton's oldest former member of the Board of Aldermen, was given the Board Monday night by its president, Wendell R. Bauckman.

Mr. Chandler, who would have been 88 years old this month, died Sunday in a Framingham nursing home.

At Bauckman's suggestion, members voted to have City Clerk Monte G. Basbas prepare an expression of their regret and send it to Mr. Chandler's daughter, Mrs. Earl Bourne of Wayland.

The president told the members that the late alderman was the grandfather of his second daughter-in-law, and that a long time ago he was leader of the Boy Scout troop of which he (Bauckman) was a member.

Donor Response Is Heavy In Campaign

Leaders of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Building Fund report they are pleased, not only at the steady flow of pledges building toward the $3,500,000 goal but also at the high worker morale and the early donor response.

Newton volunteers under chairmanship of Richard H. Lovell held their first general report meeting this week, with advance gifts solicitors joining the general gifts workers. A second tally session will be held at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, May 13, at the Newton South High School Cafeteria.

"I cannot praise too highly," General Chairman Bernard D. Grossman said, "the spirit and determination shown by our volunteer sales army. Theirs is a genuine sacrifice of time and effort, in addition to their own general pledges."

"I believe almost every family in the hospital's service area can find some way to match the workers' dedication through a substantial, three-year pledge."

Law-Makers Ponder Request For New Powers For Brooke

Some new power will be given to the Attorney General so that he may continue the work the State Crime Commission has been doing for the past 30 months.

A question many thoughtful legislators are pondering is just how broad and sweeping the increased authority vested in the Attorney General should be.

It is apparent to experienced political observers that the powers Attorney General Edward W. Brooke is asking to be granted to his department could be abused.

Nobody, who knows Brooke and who has watched his administration as Attorney General for the past 28 months, believes he would abuse any authority given to him.

But Brooke will not always be Attorney General, and a less scrupulous and conscientious individual could Newton's tax rate this year will be $70.40.

That was determined Monday night when the Board of Aldermen transferred $199,000 less from the city's surplus fund than had been recommended by Mayor Donald L. Gibbs.

The Mayor had urged that $1,024,000 be taken from the city's surplus fund and $225,000 be transferred from the water surplus to be used to meet current expenses.

Mann School Back In Use Next Monday

The new Horace Mann School on Watertown St., Newtonville, will be ready next Monday, May 10, to accommodate the 200 youngsters who were evicted when fire virtually destroyed the old school in 1963.

They'll be back under one roof for the rest of the school year, of which there remain 40 days. They have been going to class in three other schools, Stearns, Carr and Oak Hill.

District lines will be redrawn next year so that the school's 350-pupil capacity can be reached.

The new building's auditorium will seat 300, and will easily hold the Horace Mann PTA membership. It will also accommodate the members of the School Committee on Monday, May 24, when they will go there for the regular meeting scheduled for that date.

DR. PEARSON—(See Page 3)

This year's tax rate would have been $69.80 if the Mayor's proposals had been approved.

Instead, however, the Aldermen transferred $825,000 from the city's surplus and the recommended $225,000 from the water surplus.

The $199,000 the Aldermen refused to transfer from the surplus fund represented 60 cents on the tax rate, boosting the rate from $69.80 to $70.40.

Alderman William Carmen waged a vigorous but unsuccessful fight to gain approval for the Mayor's recommendations.

Mayor Gibbs reacted angrily to the action of a majority of the Aldermen Board members, terming it a "callous disregard for many of Newton's homeowners."

He commended Carmen and four other Aldermen who voted for the $1,024,000 transfer.

"I regret that a majority of the members of the Board of Aldermen saw fit to push the tax rate up over the $70 mark when it could have been kept below $70," the Mayor declared.

He asserted that the Aldermen who refused to approve his recommendation "must accept the responsibility for increasing the tax rate another 60 cents."

Mayor Gibbs defended the surplus fund transfer proposals he submitted to the Aldermen Board, maintaining that they were sound and in the best interests of the people of Newton. He pointed out that his recommendations had been endorsed and supported by the Newton Taxpayers' Association.

"In my judgment, the action of a majority of the members of the Board of Aldermen was not in the best interest of the people of Newton," Gibbs stated.

was also appointed to the Committee on Public Welfare, which hears the bills dealing with mental health. I am now chairman of a special commission on Mental Health, and we have a very fine staff working for us which includes the distinguished new president of MPHA, Dr. William J. Curran of Newton.

"He has devoted many hours and given valuable service working on the complete revision of Chapter 123, dealing with the commitment, treatment and release of mentally ill persons. A short report has been filed, and the final draft of it will soon be available. The commission is to be continued, and legislation will be filed in the 1966 session of the Legislature.

Complete revision of the chapter will place Massachusetts in the lead in the area of modern Mental Health."

Following Sen. Cutler's remarks, Dr. Curran called on Sen. James DeNormandie, who stated that he was representing the Massachusetts Senate at the meeting, and had been delegated to present Mrs. Cutler with the body's resolution of congrat-ulation on her receipt of the award.

DeNormandie explained that when the resolution was made and passed by the Senate April 28, Sen. Cutler was kept occupied elsewhere until it was possible to surprise her with an announcement of its adoption.

Is This The Year When?

How would you like to cut your telephone bill ten per cent?

It has been estimated that it would mean a saving of about $14 a year to the average telephone customer.

Your telephone service is the only household utility subject to a Federal excise tax. There was one on electricity once, but it was repealed. There never has been a tax on gas or water service.

In Newton last year the tax levied from telephone users amounted to $704,394.36.

Probably no tax since the income tax has riled so many people. Probably no tax has caused so many editorials to be printed urging its repeal.

Probably no tax prompted so many letters to Congressmen and Senators. Probably no tax has come so close to repeal in so many sessions of Congress. Probably no tax is so discriminatory.

After all, we have nothing against lacrosse sticks, flutes, diamond stick pins, mink coats and lipstick, also covered by excise taxes, but they're hardly in the same category as telephone service. Telephone service is essential to businessmen and their families.

Yet, we pay the same rate of tax on our telephones as on such non-essential items as furs, jewelry, cosmetics and similar merchandise.

There also is the danger that this temporary telephone excise tax may become permanent.

Telephone customers long used to the next-year, next-year repeal promise; the repeal of what everybody admits is an unfair tax, cannot help wondering . . . "Is this the year when?"

Here's one thing taxpayers can do to brush off a little of their tax load:

Write to your representatives in Congress and urge that they repeal the "temporary" U. S. tax of 10 per cent on telephone messages and telegrams.

Dads Attend Fathers' Day At Wellesley

Six Newton residents, Ernest F. Dietz of 93 Hancock Avenue, Newton Centre; Joseph Gesmer of 23 Chapin Road, Newton Centre; Sumner M. Moss of 79 Dedham Street, Newton Highlands; J. Leslie Sweetnam of 1670 Commonwealth Avenue, West Newton; Daniel Panagopoulos of 31 Schofield Drive, Newtonville, and Way Dong Woo of 70 Burdean Road, Newton Centre, were among the 330 fathers from 36 states and Canada at Wellesley College, for the 18th annual Sophia Fathers' Day held there last Saturday, May 1.

Fathers who arrived on Friday went to classes with their daughters and attended a reception at the President's House.

Saturday's program began at 8:30 a.m. with senior hoop-rolling. Other events included faculty lectures, a luncheon and discussion period presided over by Miss Margaret Clapp, President of Wellesley, and a Greek play presented in the outdoor theatre.

Dinner in the dormitories was followed by special entertainment planned and produced by the sophomores.

Saturday's final event was a dance to which members of the Class of 1967 were escorted by their fathers.

Political Highlights

hold the office some time in the future. New powers voted now would be exercised not only by Brooke but also by the Attorneys General to follow him.

Yet, there is no doubt that the Attorney General's department is handicapped in some of its investigations because it does have as much authority as the average person assumes.

One of the things an Attorney General can't do, for example is subpoena the books and records of a private company or corporation. That is one of the powers Brooke is seeking for his department.

Such an authority could be used judiciously and legitimately by the Attorney General's department in the course of a probe; or it could be abused.

This is one of the issues which will confront members of the Legislature when the time comes to decide just what new powers should be granted to the Attorney General.

The Crime Commission, of law at its present session covering the disposition of these records, the Crime Commission members reportedly plan to place them in storage for a year and wait to see whether such a law is adopted in 1966.

A number of legislators assert that they have not made up their minds as to what new powers should be granted to the Attorney General or what should be done with the Crime Board records and that they may be influenced by the final report which the Crime Commission will issue within the next few weeks.

Whether that report will contain any allegations or disclosures not already made public is uncertain.

The problems confronting members of the Legislature as a result of the Crime Commission probe are touchy and sensitive.

A law-maker may honestly and sincerely believe that an Attorney General should not be allowed to make an examination of the records of a private company which could develop into a witch hunt.

Yet, he has to be careful not to leave himself open to the charge of hampering investigations into possible wrongdoing.

All the records containing information which the Crime Commission believes should be used as a basis for seeking Grand Jury indictments have been turned over to Attorney General Brooke. Grand Juries will be sifted through that date at least until some time next fall, according to present estimates.

Now the question arises as to what should be done with the remaining records which, in the hands of the wrong persons, might be used in some instances for blackmail and shakedowns.

Various suggestions have been made for the disposition of these latter records which the Crime Commission decided do not contain evidence of wrongdoing that should be submitted to a Grand Jury.

Another is that they be turned over to the Attorney General and filed away.

A third is that they be placed in the custody of the chief justice of the Superior Court with the provision that the Attorney General could obtain any of the records from the court if he offered a satisfactory reason for seeking them.

If the Legislature enacts no are being short-changed because of the Attorneys General to follow him.

To buttress her argument that existing parole facilities are totally inadequate to meet current needs, she asserts that the average parole officer in this State is required to handle twice as many cases as national penal experts believe should be assigned him.

The accepted standard, she declares, is that a parole officer should handle no more than 50 cases per month. But in Massachusetts many parole officers are expected to handle more than 100 cases.

In addition, the Bay State parole officers are bogged down by a large amount of clerical work which officers in States with more up-to-date parole systems are not obliged to perform.

A school teacher with a class of 50 pupils has an almost impossible job, in the opinion of Councillor Heckler. Practically the same thing is true of a parole officer with 100 cases, she adds.

The harmful effects from the assignment of too many cases to a parole officer are two-fold, Councillor Heckler states.

First, society isn't given the protection it should be provided. Secondly, the parolee is left to his own devices at times when he should be getting supervision.

A paroled prisoner receiving less than an adequate amount of attention is more likely to turn to crime than one being given full supervision, she points out.

Conversely, Councillor Heckler continues, a parole officer with an excessive number of cases cannot be as conversant with the parolees he is supervising as if he had half as many cases.

Apart from the human aspect of providing a parolee the supervision he should receive and the public protection it should get, Councillor Heckler cites an interesting economic factor.

She reports that it costs $4000 a year to keep a man in prison and that while he is incarcerated his family usually receives welfare relief which adds up to very substantial expense for the taxpayer.

Inadequate supervision of parolees is a false and unwise economy, declares Councillor Heckler, who urges support of proposals for expanding the Parole Board's staff.

Roxbury Newton Freedom School Children Meet

Seventy-eight children from Roxbury and Newton met recently to discuss the history of voting rights since the Civil War and to hear first-hand reports from Selma and Montgomery by Richard Rowland, director of group work at the Judge Baker Newton Division and vice-president of the Boston Catholic Inter-Racial Council; and Ted Howe, program director for the Harriet Tubman House, Boston. This meeting marked the sixth session of the Roxbury-Newton Freedom School to be held at the Eliot Church in Newton Corner.

Led in small discussion groups by experienced teachers, the children met to learn about the Negro in American Society from the historical perspective and from the current national situation. Also, Mr. Rowland and Mr. Howe talked about their reasons for participating in the demonstrations in Selma and the march to Montgomery, respectively.

The monthly sessions are planned and co-ordinated by a dedicated group of Newton citizens: Mrs. Justin C. Williams, the co-ordinator; Mrs. Michael Ambrosino, curriculum chairman, and Mrs. Walter Rosenfeld, chairman of the committee on food preparation.

According to Yeretzgin Mary Ashjian, wife of the pastor of St. James Armenian Church, chairman of this sale, there will be many new items of clothing such as men's wear, boys', children's good and used clothing — all clean clothing — women's wear — also purses, shoes, hats, etc. A number of gowns for evening wear will also be available.

Daffodil Day

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Knowlton of Auburndale are among the registrants for Daffodil Day, May 8, cooperatively sponsored by the New England Region, American Daffodil Society, and the Massachusetts Horticultural Society in Horticultural Hall, Boston.

Other rooms in the new school are a library, multi-purpose room for science, art and music; a well arranged gym that can be divided for play and class work — all of that constituting a welcome change from the 65-year-old building that went up in flames.

The city's newest school represents a total cost of just under $800,000.

Trail Camp New Boys' Feature At Newton "Y"

Newton's YMCA is providing an exciting new camping opportunity for boys of 13 and 14 — the Trail Camp, under the experienced direction of Gene Sacha and the trail staff. It will have Chickamaw recreation center in Wayland as its base.

The 3-week camp will feature outdoor living, cooking, sleeping and hiking, and the last week of each period will be a trip to the White Mountains via chartered bus. There, the boys can try out their newly acquired skills on the mountain trails.

Among the skills to be taught are axmanship, fire-building, lightweight packing and emergency shelter construction.

There will be two 3-week Trail Camp periods this summer, July 6 to 23, and July 26 to Aug. 13. Registrations are now being accepted at the "Y." For further information, call Gene Sacha at BI 4-6050.

Tax -

"We have got to realize that everybody in Newton is not millionaire," the Mayor said, adding that many residents of the city are living on modest pensions and social security payments.

"If my recommendations had been followed the tax rate would have increased from $63.40 to $69.80—a jump of $6.40—representing a rise of over 10 percent in the rate.

"When a city is faced with a tax rate increase of that amount, it should do everything possible to hold down the rate and soften the blow on its property owners," Mayor Gibbs stated. This is especially true, he said, in view of last year's revaluation of residential property in the city.

Much of the discussion of the Mayor's recommendations by the members of the Board of Aldermen occurred in a star chamber session behind closed doors.

Only a brief debate was staged when the members returned to public session.

Alderman Harry L. Walen, Franklin N. Flaschner and Harry H. Ham, Jr., all spoke in support of recommendation by the Aldermanic Finance Committee that only $825,000 be transferred from the city's surplus fund instead of $1,024,000.

The said that if the Mayor's proposals were approved it would be necessary to float a $200,000 bond issue to pay for the new roads which will be built in Newton this year.

This would mean, they declared, that the city would be paying interest on the bond issue for a 10-year period.

They said that two years ago a policy was established under which the construction of new roads would be financed from the surplus fund.

Alderman Ham asserted that financing road construction from a bond issue would eventually cost Newton taxpayers more money instead of accomplishing a saving for them.

"I cannot vote for this method of saving 60 cents on the tax rate," said Alderman Walen.

Flaschner termed the policy of using surplus funds to build new roads rather than borrowing money for that purpose as "sound municipal practice."

"This issue should be clear," he stated. "The proposed motivation for arriving at $69.80 tax rate is an illustration kind of attraction."

Alderman Winslow C. Aarvanssen moved for the approval of the Finance Committee's recommendation that $825,000 be transferred from the surplus fund.

His motion was adopted by a 20-1 vote, with only Alderman Carmen dissenting.

Carmen then moved for the restoration of the $1,024,000 figure recommended by Mayor Gibbs. His motion was rejected by a vote of 16 to 5.

Those joining with Carmen in voting for the transfer of the full $1,024,000 were Aldermen Paul J. Burke, William M. Glosky, George L. Hicks and Andrew J. Magni.

Was these five men whom Mayor Gibbs praised for their stand.

Absent from the meeting were Aldermen John P. Nixon, Theodore D. Mann and John P. Holden.

Alderman Carmen, in arguing for the adoption of his motion, declared that "in each year every effort should be made to benefit the taxpayers of that year."

"It is, in a sense, inequitable to preserve in the surplus account these funds to reduce the tax rate in a future year," Carmen continued.

Chestnut Hill Group Promises A Lively Show

More than 150 residents of the Chestnut Hill area are busily working on "April Folly," a dinner dance and variety show to be repeated at the Newton Centre Woman's Club Saturday, May 15, by members of the First Church in Chestnut Hill.

The original musical was written by Mrs. John C. Dewey 3d, and Mrs. Frederick T. Ernst who, with a cast of 75, are members of the Church of the Redeemer and working hard for the success of their neighboring church's affair.

The show, "A Wayward Weed in Mrs. Webster's Garden," gives many members of the cast a chance to play roles like those in their real life. Felix Knauth, long a Boy Scout leader, plays the part of one. Mrs. Ralph B. Cies, leader of a Brownie troop, plays a Girl Scout leader. Roger B. Tyler, an attorney, has a change of pace, playing a flower show judge. The Rev. Zoltan Nagy of the First Church has no change. He plays himself.

Supporting the cast are 29 members of backstage committees. Stage manager is Hardy Ellis. Sets are the work of Robert E. Schmidt. Paul Light has designed the lighting. Chairman of the entire production is Mrs. Richard A. Butler Jr.

All are veterans of previous shows, and so this one is bound to be a huge success.

Storage

identified themselves as the three members of the committee on Franchises and Licenses who constituted the minority in the 4 to 3 vote by which the committee approved the increased storage capacity.

David W. Jackson, member of the majority, outlined the arguments advanced by the proposal's advocates. Their, and the petitioner's contention, was that the operation required at least a three-day supply of fuel on hand in order to prevent running short at various times, and causing the movement of a great many tank trucks between Everett and the Armory street location, and between there and the consumers in and around Newton.

The Aldermen who voted in favor of the increased capacity were Melvin J. Dangel, William M. Glovsky, Harry H. Ham Jr., Charles F. Hovey and David W. Jackson. The absentees were George L. Hicks, William E. Hopkins, John F. Holden, Theodore A. Mann, John P. McCarthy and John P. Nixon.

A motion for reconsideration was defeated 17 to 0. The Board voted approval of Mayor Gibbs' appointment to run to Sept. 1 of this year.

No action necessary was voted on the appointment of John B. Atkinson to the Advisory Council in Health. Mr. Atkinson died a few days prior to Monday's meeting.

By vote of the Board, President Bauckman in the next few days will appoint a committee of five Aldermen to examine for qualifications the following men named by the mayor: Robert C. Casselman, Mario DiCarlo, William A. Lincoln and Earl Stevenson, all as members of the Newton Redevelopment Authority. Bauckman promised to name the committee in time for action on the appointments at the next regular meeting.

PLAN DECORATIONS—Planning decorations for Newton Women's Republican Club dinner dance on May 22 are, seated, left to right: Mrs. Frederick G. Fisher, Jr., and Mrs. C. of Robert H. Corbett, 8 Meriden avenue, Newton Highlands, as an associate member of the Board of Appeals, Building Laws, his term to run to Sept. 1 of this year.

Also approved were the following mayoral appointments: Wilfred Chagnon, Dr. Robert H. Hamlin, Mrs. Lester L. Havens and Dr. Charles A. Thompson Jr., as members of the Advisory Council on Health.

Reappointments approved were those of A. G. Asaff as a member of the Board of License Commissioners; Mrs. Dorothy Y. Bugbee as a member of the Board of Appeals of the Jackson Homestead; L. Howard Loughman, member of the Board of Park Commissioners; T. Frank Copp, member of the Recreation Commission; Mrs. Jeannette C. West, member of the Recreation Commission, and Dr. Sidney Darow, member of the Advisory Council on Health.

No action necessary was voted on the appointment of John B. Atkinson to the Advisory Council in Health. Mr. Atkinson died a few days prior to Monday's meeting.

President Bauckman in the next few days will appoint a committee of five Aldermen to examine for qualifications the following men named by the mayor: Robert C. Casselman, Mario DiCarlo, William A. WE MUST FACE THESE FACTS

- ★ More beds are needed. The Building Fund will provide 75 additional beds.
- ★ The X-ray department must expand.
- ★ The Laboratories must expand. Present crowding impairs efficiency.

★ The out-patient clinic has outgrown make-shift quarters. Its role in reducing in-patient demands has become increasingly important.

... and of vital concern to every Newton family which might require emergency care ...

★ All of these projected improvements relate directly to maintaining the present high level of emergency services for this great and growing residential area.

Newton Heart Neighbors Are Thanked For Aid

Mrs. E. Tyler Parkhurst of 64 Parker St., Newton Centre, general chairman in Newton for the 1965 Heart Fund campaign, has expressed thanks to the city's "Heart Neighbors and volunteers for their all-out support in the February drive.

"The success of the Newton drive did much to help the state achieve its goal of $1.2 million dollars to sustain cardiovascular research," Mrs. Parkhurst said.

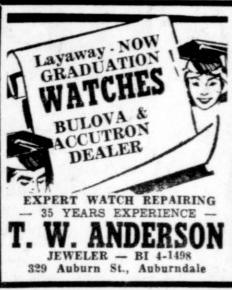

"Newton Heart Neighbors and volunteers showed a willingness of spirit to get things done in the vital job of local organization which was the key to success in the recent campaign.

"The dedicated work of Newton area captains, area chairmen and other local volunteers made it possible for us to have one of the most successful Heart Fund drives in our history.

"Heart Fund research has made possible life-saving surgery thought impossible a decade ago. Because of the Heart Fund, the heart-lung machine, cardioverter, artificial heart and high blood pressure drugs are available to fight the country's Number One illness," she concluded.

NEWTON - WELLESLEY HOSPITAL FACES CRISIS 1965

IS SECOND RATE HEALTH CARE GOOD ENOUGH FOR THE PEOPLE OF NEWTON?

Today we have a first class hospital. It is largely the gift of an earlier generation. What about tomorrow and our children's tomorrow? Will Newton-Wellesley Hospital be able to meet the growing demands of a growing population.

You must supply the answer. A campaign is under way to obtain $3,500,000 through three-year pledges. The money will be used for a new wing and re-arrangement of several major departments. (Another $500,000 in Federal funds awaits the outcome.)

An intensive, well-organized solicitation is under way in Wellesley. Obviously, our Wellesley neighbors intend to do their share. In populous Newton many more workers are needed to tell the hospital story to prospective donors.

Every responsible, conscientious resident of the Newton villages can help in two ways. First, of course, is to make his own pledge in an amount to be determined by thoughtful — even prayerful — deliberation.

You can help, too, by volunteering your services. If you can make only a few calls on friends and neighbors, your offer will be most welcome.

Residents Enjoy Monorail Ride

According to reports from the recently reopened World's Fair in New York, a number of Newton residents toured the scenic lake area there aboard the American Machine & Foundry Company's monorail train.

They were: G. M. Davenport, 15 Groveland St., Auburndale; Mrs. John E. Simmons and daughter Toni, 24 Crosby Rd., Chestnut Hill.

Milk Production
St. Paul — Milk production in the U.S. at current rates is sufficient to provide two quarts every day for every man, woman and child in the entire country.

Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Sohn and Roger Sohn, 100 Deborah Rd., Newton Centre, Richard Sobol, 146 Langley Rd., Newton Centre, and Mrs. Herbert Rose and daughter Stephie Rose, 31 Elmwood St., Newton Centre.

The luncheon meeting is scheduled for Friday, May 14th at the American Center for Research in Blindness and Rehabilitation. The Rev. Robert Carolan, of the Catholic Guild for All the Blind, 770 Center Street, will serve as host for this important session.

The meeting will bring together the executives or heads of departments of the public and private health, welfare, recreation and education agencies in Newton, and their board presidents or commission presidents. Final secretary's and treasurer's reports for the year will be given by Anthony J. Bibbo.

Miss Margaret Murphy served as the organization's treasurer during the past year. Alex Miller will report for the nominating committee. Elections will follow, with the officers for next year being appointed to their newly elected positions.

John Penny, the group's vice chairman has arranged for an interesting and exciting program. A panel discussion on the "Opportunities Act" will be presented. Discussants will be Mrs. Alden B. Thresher, Chairman of the Citizens Action Steering Committee for the Newton Economic Opportunities Project; Miss Constance Garbutt, Executive Director of the Newton Community Council; and Mr. Donald Welch, Coordinator — "Project Headstart."

Reservations for this annual meeting will be made through the Newton Community Center.

The show consists of a three act play, the school band, and the singing of the combined school choruses. The play is a delightful and hilarious comedy called "The Darling Brats."

The story is about three orphan children raised by their sister, Cynthia, and played by Phyllis Paul. Cynthia (Diane Ayvazian) decides to stop Agatha's influence by marrying her off to a confirmed bachelor, Appleton Crabb (John Packer).

The two youngest children, Hank (Paul Toomey) and Babs (Susan Rubin), want Agatha to marry John Henry Judd, a cowboy, so they can live on his ranch in Arizona. Their older sister Tess (Joan Rosenberg) wants her aunt to marry the rich Crabb so that she can continue lavishing gifts upon her niece.

The tricks the brats play on Agatha and Appleton provide uproarious laughter. Agatha, turning the tables on the brats, creates even more laughter and fun in an entirely amusing and exciting comedy.

The show starts at 7:30 p.m.

A proposal that Newton hire "meter maids" to police its parking meters is expected to win speedy approval from Mayor Donald L. Gibbs and the Board of Aldermen.

An order urging the appointment of "meter maids" has been filed by Alderman Theodore D. Mann for the consideration of the Aldermanic Board.

The measure will be on the agenda for next Monday night's meeting of the Board of Aldermen. Whether it will be acted upon at that time or referred to committee for study, is uncertain.

However, there is little doubt that "meter maids" will be patrolling Newton's parking meters in the reasonably near future, releasing police officers for other duties.

Car Inspection Deadline Nears

Motorists are advised that the semi-annual spring motor vehicle inspection will conclude on Saturday, May 15th.

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Gov. Volpe Running Strong On Banquet Table Circuit

Governor John A. Volpe has improved tremendously as a politician and public speaker. He is a far different John Volpe from the one who served as Governor in 1961 and 1962 and then lost his bid for reelection by an eyelash.

Volpe now is poised, at ease before Democratic gatherings, quick with the turn of a phrase, deft at winning over his listeners and making new friends.

This has become increasingly apparent to newsmen covering the banquet and testimonial dinner circuit.

But political observers don't wonder as much about Volpe's improvement as a public speaker, as they do about his stamina in standing up under the punishing schedule he has been following.

By themselves the duties of a Governor are demanding and exacting and represent a full-time job.

When he finishes his day's work at the State House, however, Governor Volpe goes out stumping for his tax program, striving to make his audiences understand it better and to convince them that the limited sales tax he is proposing would be good for Massachusetts, would mean lower real estate tax rates, more jobs and better education for the children of the State.

Start On School Here Is Delayed

A proposal by the School Committee that property in the Newton Corner area be taken this year for use as the site for the new Bigelow Junior High School, has been turned down by Mayor Donald L. Gibbs.

This means that construction of the new school probably will not be started until 1967 and that it will not be completed and ready for occupancy until 1968, according to School Committee member Hugh Tomb.

Tomb also expressed the belief that every year of delay in building the school would add to the ultimate construction costs and that the expense will rise $100,000 if work on the new school is not started until 1967.

On Tomb's motion at Monday night's School Board meeting, it was voted to request the Mayor to recommend that the Board of Aldermen appropriate the necessary money from the city's surplus fund for the purchase of the new Bigelow School site.

The speedup in taking five lots of land containing homes at Park and Vernon Sts. in Newton Corner is being urged so that the land might be cleared and the construction of the new school started next year.

However, Mayor Gibbs asserted last night that he will not comply with the latest School Board request.

The Mayor said that if the

Newton Centre Couple Grants Scholarships

The third scholarship less than a year has been made available through the University of Michigan by a Newton Centre couple, Mr. and Mrs. Joel M. Barnes of 141 Cedar St.

The most recent, an endowment of $10,500, is named for Mrs. Barnes' father, Emory F. Russell, a director of music in Providence, R. I., before the turn of the century. A member of the band in the University of Michigan School of Music will be available for that award.

is to be financed with a $200,000 transfer from the surplus fund, he could not spare the money to pay for the school site.

Furthermore, Mayor Gibbs added, he doesn't consider it a good idea to take the school site until the plans for the school have been completed.

He said he provided $66,000 last February to pay for the preparation of plans for the new Bigelow School and that the plans will not be ready until late in the year, possibly in December.

"I don't think the land should be taken in advance of the final plans," he stated.

Under a new law, Gibbs said, the city must pay 100 percent of the value of the property at the time it is taken.

That means, he pointed out, that the city would have to expend about $1500 to get appraisals of the five parcels and then pay a substantial sum to the owners of the properties.

Gibbs said that the land takings were not scheduled to be made until next year when they would be paid for from the bond issue which will be floated to finance the

Students Campaign For Center May 23

Hundreds of dedicated students will be ringing doorbells in Newton on Sunday, May 23, in an attempt to raise money for a planned Youth Center here.

The Junior Class at Newton High School has long felt the need for this center. Student spokesmen have mentioned that adults repeatedly told them "to keep off the streets."

They, therefore, turned to the adults for aid in securing a center for their activities. According to the organizers of the Sunday campaign, this adult help was not forthcoming.

Credit for the original idea of the center belongs to Francis Deats, secretary of the Junior Class. She together with the principals of both Newton High School and Newton South High School, as well as Superintendent of Schools Brown, approve the effort.

Members of the Newton Republican City Committee and their families met Sunday night at the Hunnewell Club to honor Howard Whitmore, Jr., a former mayor of this city, and now chairman of the Metropolitan District Commission.

The affair was planned as a simple tribute to one of Newton's favorite sons and it retained that motif. It was open to the public without charge.

In another appearance following the Whitmore fete, Volpe emphasized that the affair for Whitmore had been a reception and not a testimonial dinner.

In fact, said Volpe, he had attended and hadn't gotten anything to eat. At that point at the testimonial dinner for Supreme Court Clerk John E. Powers a waiter was summoned to get some food for the hungry Volpe.

Actually, refreshments consisting of punch, tea, coffee, cookies and doughnuts were served to the 200 guests who gathered at the Hunnewell Club to pay tribute to Whitmore and his record of distinguished public service.

The event, sponsored by the Newton Republican City Committee, never was planned as a testimonial dinner or as anything more than a reception.

Mental Health Agency Member Drive is Open

A major membership drive will be launched this month in connection with the efforts of Action for Mental Health in Newton which has been devoting itself for the past 2½ years to setting up The Newton Mental Health Center.

On or about July 1st the Mental Health Center will open its doors to consult with parents and to treat emotionally disturbed children in the community.

While the primary focus of the state-community partnership clinic will be the treatment of emotionally disturbed children, efforts will also be made to educate adults and to provide a training center in the psychological sciences.

Dr. William E. Stone, director of the Out-Patient Service of the Psychiatric Department at Children's Hospital, has been appointed medical director of the new facility. The Mental Health Center will work closely with the Guidance Department of the Newton schools, the clergy, the

South High Seniors Excel In Science Fair Projects

Two Newton South seniors walked away with honors from the Massachusetts State Science Fair, sponsored by the Boston Globe, at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Stephen Shaw received a first prize for his project, "The Effect of the Rate of Flow of Saliva on its Content of Amylase." Steve is the son of Dr. and Mrs. James Shaw of 10 Stiles Terr., Newton Centre.

"Analysis of Blood Serum Protein By Means of Zone Electrophoresis," by Steven Novick, received honorable mention. Steve is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Alfred L. Novick, 51 Upland Rd., Waban.

Using himself as a subject, Shaw took samples of saliva at different rates of flow and subjected each sample to a series of tests to determine the amounts of the enzyme amylase present. He then correlated his results statistically with the aid of the IBM 7094 computer at MIT.

He found that when the salivary glands are stimulated, the body increases both the rate of flow of saliva and the concentration of protein to provide more of the vital constituents of saliva, such as amylase. The combination of the effects of these bodily adjustments can cause an increase in the starch digesting ability of the saliva of at least 82 times, and possibly more.

Steve performed his experiment at Harvard School of Dental Medicine, under the initial supervision of Dr. Colin Dawes, who first sparked his enthusiasm for the study of salivary secretion.

Steve would like to pursue his education to earn his Ph.D. in biochemistry, and then would like to become a professor or a research scientist in that field. He will enter Harvard next year.

Novick, who would like to go into medicine, set out to investigate the value of electrophoresis as a medical tool. He took samples of normal and diseased blood serum and separated the different proteins into zones on a paper strip by passing an electric current through it. He then plotted the density of the protein zones by use of a home-made densitometer, or light-density measuring apparatus. He found that lack of a certain protein in the blood can be determined by this test, possibly indicating a disease.

Both boys are students in Burton Goldman's advanced placement chemistry class.

Mankind's Quest For Immortality Is Science Theme

Mankind's quest for immortality will be presented at Christian Science churches this Sunday through the story of John the Baptist and his relationship to Christ Jesus.

Subject of the Bible lesson is "Mortals and Immortals," Golden Text: "Thou are no more a servant, but a son; and if a son, then an heir of God through Christ" (Galatians 4:7).

The concluding Bible verse is from I Corinthians: "As we have borne the image of the earthly, we shall also bear the image of the heavenly."

Related passages from the Christian Science textbook will include these lines: "The real man being linked by Science to his Maker, mortals need only turn from sin and lose sight of mortal selfhood to find Christ, the real man and his relation to God, and to recognize the divine sonship" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mark Baker Eddy, p. 316.)

Horace Mann School in Use

"The youngsters are now in the new Horace Mann School and delighted to be there," Dr. Charles E. Brown, superintendent of schools, informed members of the School Committee Monday night.

He added that the acoustics were excellent, due to wall-to-wall carpeting in all educational areas of the building. The carpeting, he said, would decrease the cost of floor upkeep, as carpet cleaning costs less than keeping a tiled floor waxed.

The pupils, who had been temporarily housed in three other schools since the old Horace Mann was virtually destroyed by fire, moved into the new structure Monday.

The committee's next meeting, Monday evening, May 24, will be held in the new Horace Mann School auditorium.

$70.40 Officially Fixed As '65 Tax Rate in City

Members of the Newton Board of Assessors have officially fixed the city's 1965 tax rate at the expected figure of $70.40, an increase of $7 over last year's rate.

This year's tax rate of $70.40 has been formally approved by the State Commissioner of Corporations and Taxation.

In announcing the tax rate, the assessors declared that several factors contributed to force the rate up over the $70-mark for the first time in Newton's history.

State and county assessments against Newton were $297,061.58 higher this year than in 1964, while the city this year will receive $568,850.55 less from the State than year it did last year.

These two items make a net amount of $865,912.13, representing a $2.70 rise in the tax rate over which the city itself has no control.

Statutory exemptions also required an unusually large overlay item for this year, the assessors reported.

They said that exemptions granted by State law to elderly persons amounted to $218,500 in tax dollars last year and that veterans' exemptions totalled $180,500. Similar amounts are expected this year.

The city and school budget approved by the Mayor and Board of Aldermen was $1,902,948 larger than that of last year, with the school budget accounting for $894,528 of the jump and municipal appropriations rising $1,008.420.

Figures issued by the assessors showed that the city this year must raise a total of $33,734,829.03.

It will get $10,856,708.71 from sources other than its tax levy, leaving $22,878,120.32 to be raised from the levy on real estate and personal property, it was stated.

Transfers of $825,000 from the city's surplus fund and $225,000 from the water surplus were voted by the Mayor and Aldermen to hold the rate at $70.40.

The total valuation placed on real estate and personal property in Newton is $324,973,300. This places Newton fourth in the list of Massachusetts cities with the largest valuation.

New buildings valued at $4,125,000 were added to the city's tax rolls this year.

Proposed Motel Signs Opposed

A petition by Holiday Inn for permission to erect four illuminated signs at the new motor hotel at 399 Grove street, Newton Lower Falls, brought more than 50 opposing residents to the hearing Monday night in City Hall.

They asserted that their property value would be reduced were the signs allowed, and feared loss of sleep because of the blinking lights.

Representing the petitioner, former Sen. Richard H. Lee, 107 Mt. Vernon street, Newtonville, declared that the proposed signs would be in good taste and appropriate to the area, and that they would neither blink nor move.

Two Students Winners Of Heintzelman Prize

The Ninth Annual Heintzelman Awards for Creative Achievement in English were received by Caroline Poplin, chairman of the English Department, '65, and Joe Jarrell, '65, Newton South High School.

Richard Mecham, principal of Newton High School and trustee of the Heintzelman Memorial Fund, presided at the Awards Assembly held May 5 at Newton High School.

The Award Books were presented to the two winners by Mrs. C. Marshall Caras, chairman of the trustees, and copies were received by Mrs. Margaret Erskine for the Newton South High School Library.

Peter Coakley, '65, Newton High School; Deborah Daum, '65, Newton South High School; and Ruth Morse, '66, Newton High School were announced as finalists.

Caroline Poplin read excerpts from her Award Manuscript "A Critical Analysis of the Symbolism of the Scarlet Letter in Hawthorne's Novel." Joe Jarrell's Award Manuscript "Empathy Is In" was presented as a dramatic reading by John Shapiro, Robert Runstein, Joe Jarrell, Paul Balmuth, and Caroline Poplin. Miss Elizabeth Massey directed a choral reading by classes of Mrs. Brenda Goldberg and Douglas Wax.

The Heintzelman Competition was established in 1956 to honor the memory of M. Roland Heintzelman, an English teacher at Newton High School.

Young and brilliant, Mr. Heintzelman left an indelible impression with his students and colleagues when he died in 1955. More than anything, the Heintzelman Award has come to mean creative achievement in English at the highest level of literary quality.

Bay State Is Well Rid Of Clay-Liston Fight

Good riddance to the Clay-Liston fight!

One thing those, who have been wringing their hands and moaning and groaning about Boston losing the heavyweight championship fight, seem to forget is that the only reason Boston got it in the first place was that no other big city in the United States would take it.

The extent to which other large cities have turned their backs on Messrs. Clay and Liston is reflected by the fact that their coming bout will be staged in a whistlestop in Maine. A garbage scow in the harbor might be a more appropriate setting.

This was a fight which was born in scandal and lived in scandal.

Former heavyweight champion Sonny Liston, according to all reports, injured his arm 10 days before his first fight with Cassius Clay in Miami, not during the fight as was claimed at the time.

A $50,000 fee was paid to Clay prior to the first bout by the corporation in which Liston is a stockholder in return for a guarantee of a rematch with Liston if Clay won. This is a violation of the regulations.

Under the suggested constitutional amendment, the people would have less freedom of choice in electing a Governor and Lieutenant Governor.

When they elect a Governor,

Ironically, the voters will be stripping themselves of a little authority they now have if they adopt this change, as it is expected they will. It also will be a step toward ticket voting.

Under the suggested constitutional amendment, the people would have less freedom of choice in electing a Governor and Lieutenant Governor.

That was last June when Elliot L. Richardson was endorsed for Lieutenant Governor.

In 1962, when Volpe was Governor and had the power of the office behind him, he wanted State Senator John F. Parker of Taunton as his running mate. The convention nominated corruption-fighting ex-Representative Francis W. Perry.

Democratic nominees for Governor rarely interfere in other convention fights. They know they would be hurt politically if they did.

The last Democratic nominee for Governor who sought to pick his own running mate was Foster Furcolo back in 1956. But while Furcolo was conferring with men he had under consideration, the convention endorsed Robert F. Murphy.

Even if a Democratic candidate for Governor did persuade a convention to give him the running mate he wanted, there's no guarantee that either of the two would win in the primary. Some Democrat endorsed in June always loses in September.

One argument which has been advanced is that the adoption of the change in the State Constitution would prevent a recurrence of the situation which developed last year when Francis X. Bellotti challenged Endicott Peabody.

That's nonsense. The same thing could and probably would have happened if Peabody and Bellotti had run together as a team in 1962.

These reports may be checked and read in full detail at the Boston Medical Library, 8 Fenway, and doubtless elsewhere.

Did YOU have a dog when you were a boy?

If so, how would you have felt if it were lost or stolen and fell into the hands of merciless experimenters?

THE VIVISECTORS' OWN REPORTS in the medical journals tell the grim story of how they mutilate, skin, burn, beat, freeze, gas, electrically shock, inoculate with disease and otherwise torture their pathetically helpless victims.

Here are some of the recent experiments reported by the vivisectors in the American Journal of Physiology:

1. Confining dogs in a standing position in an intensely hot room (120° F.) for four (4) hours without water. (Mar. 1959)

2. Covering dogs with lamp black and burning over 30% of their bodies. It was stated that "light" anesthesia was administered during the actual searing of the flesh. Death finally ensued. (Mar. 1960)

3. Injecting glass beads in circulation of twenty (20) dogs and recording effect on breathing. (Feb. 1961)

4. Electrically shocking central nervous system of cats by electrodes permanently implanted in their brains, followed by injection of a drug causing severe diarrhea within two (2) hours. Cats then "immobilized" with curare. (Feb. 1961)

5. Causing acute hemorrhage in thirty-six (36) cats by carotid occlusion. ("Carotid"—at or near neck arteries. "Occlusion"—blocking.) (Feb. 1961)

6. Causing hemorrhage to anesthetized dogs to point of death and during death throes cutting out and slicing liver. (Feb. 1961)

These reports may be checked and read in full detail at the Boston Medical Library, 8 Fenway, and doubtless elsewhere.

Political Highlights

On top of that, Volpe finds time to drop in at most of the testimonial dinners held for prominent public figures and skilfully harvest a little political hay for himself.

On one recent Sunday—supposedly his day of rest—Volpe was at a big communion breakfast at 9 in the morning, 12 hours later, was speaking at an overflow testimonial dinner honoring former Senate President and present Supreme Court Clerk John E. Powers.

During that 12-hour span between 9 a.m. and 9 p.m., Volpe had been going steadily, and at 9 at night he suddenly remembered he hadn't had anything to eat since breakfast.

What was especially remarkable was that the bouncy Volpe still looked fresh and relaxed at 9 at night. How long he can keep up the pace he has been setting for himself, may be another matter.

The banquet season, of course, is coming to a close. But it still looks like a long legislative session, and in the summer there will be the usual outings and clambakes where the Governor's attendance is eagerly sought.

One thing noticeable at the dinners Volpe has attended is that Democratic speakers, while emphasizing that they may not see eye to eye with him on all matters, go out of their way to voice a few words of praise for him.

And his Democratic listeners, especially the women, seem to react pretty favorably to Volpe.

Right now Volpe appears to be in a strong position for the run he presumably will make next year for a full four-year term in the Governorship.

But there will be some very embarrassed people in the Boston area if he does.

It will be obliged to take the Lieutenant Governor who goes along with him, whether they like it or not.

That, of course, would prevent the election of a Governor of one political party and a Lieutenant Governor of the opposite party, as has happened twice in the last three decades.

Whether Byrne will go before a Grand Jury to present any evidence of wrongdoing is uncertain. The fact that the fight has been moved out of Massachusetts makes it less likely that he will.

Cures Come First

Editor of The Graphic:

We hear a lot about so-called scientific explorations and the millions of dollars spent on rockets to other planets, including the poor old moon, which has never done us any harm, and we wonder why the government does not use those millions for medical experiments, such as a cure for arthritis and the other diseases for which they are always seeking contributions.

The good Lord gave us this beautiful world to live on, and why can't the powers that be use this money to look after it? If they concentrated their energies and intelligence on flood control and other projects, it would easily make more sense wouldn't it?

Tonight I am ashamed of my government. I vehemently protest the intervention of American troops in the Dominican Civil War. American intervention to crush Dominican revolt is as illegal and immoral as Russian Intervention in Hungary, and will be as politically self-defeating in the end.

I urge evacuation of all foreign civilians at once and immediate withdrawal of all American troops. I urge submission of the Dominican crisis to the United Nations Security Council for collective international action.

America is not the policeman of the world. Let us turn to the United Nations to build the International Law and Order which alone can give us peace and security.

Parking Lot and Apartment Petitions Raise Opposition

Groups of residents appeared at a City Hall hearing Monday night to oppose petitions for the establishment of a 56-car private parking lot in Newton Upper Falls and the erection of a 12-unit garden-type apartment house in Newtonville.

Fifteen persons voiced objection to an application by James Godino to use the lot at 7 River Ave., Newton Upper Falls, as a 56-car parking area for tenants at the former New England Silk Mill located across the street.

Several Newtonville residents opposed a plan for building a 12-unit garden-type apartment house at 983 Washington St. A house constructed more than 100 years ago and assessed for $900 would be torn down to make way for the apartment house.

The hearings were held by the Planning Board and the Aldermanic Claims and Rules Committee.

David J. Bagley was represented by Atty. Thomas F. Donnelly, 313 Washington St., Newton, in his petition for site plan and permissive use for the garden type apartment house, which would consist of four one-bedroom apartments, six with two bedrooms and two efficiency apartments.

Mrs. Dorothy Perry, leading the opposition, said that the proposed structure would ruin her property at 987 Washington St., as it would come within 15 feet of her lot line.

Others voiced opposition with claims that the lot is not large enough for so many apartments, and that if it were allowed, traffic would be increased to the danger point.

Former Alderman Ernest G. Angevine, representing James Godino, who sought to establish a parking lot at 7 River Ave., declared that the renovated mill had removed a number of substantial buildings, one of them a house on the River Ave. lot. He added that the petitioner is trying to obtain a lease from the MDC for parking land along the Charles River to provide an extra cushion.

The petitioner, he went on, would build a high wooden fence and provide a tree screen to satisfy any ruling of the Aldermen. With those on MDC land, the parking spaces would total 342. Angevine said, "The land is in a Private Residence District within 150 feet of a Business Zone in which the Aldermen may permit parking."

Leading the opponents was Robert Young, 38 River Ave., who said the lot had been used for parking for six months in violation of ordinances. If the petition is granted, he said, residents would want the lot completely fenced and an absence of parking evenings, Sundays and holidays.

Containing the Brimmer and May crest, the charms, crafted in either silver or gold will be displayed for the first time that evening.

The Night at the Pops program is, in itself, a revival of a Brimmer and May School tradition. An annual event for many years, the Night lapsed for a time and is being brought back through the efforts of

Some Of City's Leading Figures Attend Newton Bankers' Meeting

A prominent Newton citizen, Howard Whitmore Jr., head of the Metropolitan District Commission, as principal speaker at last week's annual meeting of the Newton Bankers Association, described the wide scope of activities, projects and facilities under the commission's jurisdiction in an area of 544 square miles, in which there are 2,400,000 persons. Another prominent Newtonite, Mayor Donald L. Gibbs, spoke briefly on the city's current problems, its progress and financial affairs. It was the association's 38th annual get-together, and it attracted a capacity audience to Brae Burn Country Club.

The meeting was conducted by President Frederick C. Ober, president of the Newton Savings Bank. President Ober spoke briefly about the financial position of the nine Newton Banks which have shown an increase in total assets of $30,883,930.00 to $368,081,045.00. Deposits now total $322,217,678.00 a gain of $31,914,749.00. Real Estate Loans have increased $12,964,156.00 and now total $185,938,006.00. The Newton Bankers Association is composed of officers, director, trustees and incorporators of the nine Newton Banks. President Ober introduced the following State Representatives: Joseph G. Bradley, Irving Fishman and Paul F. Malloy. Representatives of the Bank Commissioner's office of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts at the head table were Edward R. Brady, director of trust company examinations; George Bonney, director of savings bank examinations and David J. Coleman, director of co-operative bank examinations.

Officers for the coming year were elected as follows: President, Charles E. Dockser, president and chairman of the board of Garden City Trust Company; vice-president, Francis E. erection of the Bigelow School.

This is not the schedule the School Board members would like to follow, but it appears to be the way it will have to be done.

Governor John A. Volpe and two lady members of the State Senate replied to letters from the Newton School Committee which expressed opposition to a bill now before the Legislature that would grant teachers collective bargaining rights similar to those exercised by labor unions, it was reported at Monday night's School Board session.

The Governor acknowledged receipt of the letter but did not indicate his position on the bill to which the School Committee is opposed.

State Senator Leslie B. Cutler, whose district includes part of Newton, advised the School Committee that she also is opposed to the bill. She said the measure is before the Senate committee on bills in third reading and expressed the hope that it will die there.

Senator Mary L. Fonseca of Fall River, chairman of the joint legislative committee on taxation, was non-committal in her letter of acknowledgement.

School Superintendent Charles E. Brown reported to the School Committee that the Newton Teachers Association had gone on record as opposed to the bill. Brown expressed gratification at this action which is construed to mean that the negotiations between the teachers and the School Board will continue to be conducted in the same manner as in the past.

Dr. Brown also told Chairman Haskell C. Freedman and the other members that the National Educational Television program that was filmed here would be shown on WGBH-TV, Channel 2, during the week of June 21. They could identify it in the program listings by its title, "The Teacher Gap," he said.

At one point in the meeting, Dr. Brown exhibited the architects' preliminary plans for the Carr School addition, and the members voted to accept them.

Scantily clad feminine sun-bathers on the banks of the Charles may draw whistles from some passing male motorists, but they're getting only frowns from Metropolitan District Commissioner Howard Whitmore, Jr., of Newton.

Whitmore declares that some of the costumes—or lack of costumes—are so scanty that they violate MDC regulations, and he implies that some of the sun-bathers could be prosecuted in court.

Whether the members of Whitmore's MDC police force will hale some of the scantily clad sun-bathers into court has not been disclosed.

Newton Residents Have Roles In Hovey Players

Five Newton residents are currently in rehearsal for the Hovey Players of Waltham's production of "South Pacific" which will be presented on May 20, 21, and 22 at the Kennedy Junior High School, 655 Lexington Street, Waltham, at 8:30 p.m.

The role of the avaricious "Bloody Mary" will be played by Jeanne Anderson. With the Newton Players Mrs. Andersen was seen in their productions of "Speaking of Murder" and "Fifth Season." She has also assumed roles with the Auburndale Players in their productions of "Two Blind Mice," "Ghost Train," and "Laura." "South Pacific" marks her first appearance with the Waltham group.

Singing in a fine tenor voice the beautiful, "Younger Than Springtime" is Michael McArdle, playing the role of "Lieut. Joseph Cable".

While a newcomer to the Players, he has been associated for the past five years with the Handel and Haydn Society of Boston, the oldest choral group in the United States. With the Society he has performed in concerts several times a year, plus special appearances, and has toured throughout New England.

Paul Gillis has been cast as "Commander Harbison". An active member of the Players, Mr. Gillis has performed in many of their productions including, "The Big Knife", "A View From the Bridge", "Kiss Me Kate", "Brigadoon," and as the delightfully humorous "Dr. Morrissey" in "Send Me No Flowers." In the business management of the group Mrs. Gillis serves as a member of the Board of Directors and is a past chairman of the Play Reading Committee.

Cindy Brennan and Noreen Lannigan will be seen as nurses, with singing and dancing in the popular, "I'm Senator Donahue paid tribute to the citizens of Newton for meeting with their legislators to discuss and reflect their views on the various issues.

Program chairman was Dr. Rudy Haschemeyer, co-chairman, Donald Wood, Court street, Newtonville, and Joseph Hannigan, Lowell avenue, Newtonville.

Bay Path Girl Scout Council Has Six Camps

Due to year-round efforts of consultants, managers and camping committee members, Bay Path Girl Scout Council will have two resident and four day camps available during July and August.

Men hold a number of positions in Bay Path camp management. Serving as site managers are Kurt Hansen of Newton at Camp Wabasso in Sutton, N.H., and men have charge of other camps, including Nocochwa in Natick.

The only woman site manager is Mrs. Robert Clinton of Newton, in charge of Camp Mary Day on the Weston-Natick line.

Even the day camps committee has a male member, Joel Leighton of Newton, who takes time from his full schedule to help with plans.

Camps Virginia in Bolton and Wabasso in Sutton, N.H., receive close attention throughout the year from Mrs. Charles Brown, camp committee chairman, assisted by Mrs. Edward T. Englund, Mrs. Paul F. Nation and Miss Carol Jenkinson, all of Newton.

But the question was raised as to whether the affair would violate the law which prohibits testimonial dinners for officials associated with law-enforcement agencies.

The MDC, which Whitmore heads, comes within that category since it has a police force.

Attorney General Edward W. Brooke ruled that it was not a testimonial dinner since no tickets were offered for sale and there was no charge to attend the reception.

Fessenden Boys To See Macbeth On North Shore

Seven students from the Fessenden School in West Newton, will see a performance of "Macbeth" at the North Shore Music-Theater in Beverly, with Arthur Charles V. Chapin orator, and will receive the Daphne Medal of the City of Providence, according to word from Rhode Island.

His selection was announced recently by Dr. Jesse P. Eddy III, chairman of arrangements for the Rhode Island Medical Society's 15 annual meeting.

The non-profit organization presents the program, given this year May 17 through 28, as an educational service for the living study of English literature.

"Macbeth" features the McCarter Theater Company of Princeton, N.J., resident professional company of Princeton University. It will be their only New England appearance this year.

Performances are scheduled for morning and afternoon so that students may attend in groups with their teachers. While the majority of the audiences will comprise students for the most part, the general public is invited, and many Shakespearian buffs do attend.

Further information may be had on request to: Shakespeare Student Program, Box 62, Beverly, Mass.

Ohabei Shalom Adult Club To End Its Season

Rabbi Albert S. Goldstein will discuss the history, content and future of Reform Judaism as the club members understand and practice it. He will try to answer all questions relating to the differences in ritual, practice and beliefs among contemporary Jews.

Speech

He said he plans to have a survey of State jobs made by experts borrowed from private industry for a 90-day period, that he will study their recommendations and then urge the Legislature to eliminate jobs considered unnecessary.

Then McCarthy made a statement which brought a barrage of return fire from State Senate President Maurice A. Donahue and other legislative leaders.

"If the Legislature doesn't go for it, I am going to the papers. I am going to name names. I am going to name jobs. This is a threat," he declared.

Senate President Donahue retorted sharply that instead of threatening the Legislature, McCarthy should work with the law-makers and if there are any unnecessary jobs in the State government, McCarthy should tell the Legislature what they are.

Donahue accused McCarthy of tearing down Massachusetts instead of building it up and declared that McCarthy should work "with the construction crew rather than the wrecking gang." The Senate head also chided McCarthy on his inability to obtain morning reports on State employees, observing that if a high-ranking officer in the armed services couldn't get a morning report, he would be transferred to a lesser job.

The obvious weakness in McCarthy's position was that he made what amounted to a threat to the Legislature in his St. Bernard's Holy Name speech without having specific facts to back up his statements.

To Hold Obedience Competition For Shetland Sheepdogs May 22

The Colonial Shetland Sheepdog Association's annual spring breed and obedience competition will be held at the Prescott School grounds in Norwood, Saturday, May 22.

Dogs will be entered at 11 a.m. on the grounds and there will be classes for puppies as young as three months, and a special sweepstakes class for puppies from three to twelve months.

Judging of the sweepstakes will begin at noon and the other classes at 1 o'clock.

Catherine Coleman Moore will judge the sweepstakes this year. A long-time breeder and handler of Shetland sheepdogs, she was among the first to show shelties in the United States. Her first champion finished in the 20s. She has written many articles and is awaiting publication of her third book on the breed. It is a revision of her popular "The Complete Shetland Sheepdog."

She is a resident of Williamsburg and still raises shelties at her Sheltieland Kennels, but on a much smaller scale than formerly. One of the most influential dogs that she bred was the well known Ch. Sheltieland Kiltie O' See Isle. Kiltie was the sire of nine champions and grandsons of many more. Now deceased his many fine offspring still carry his lovely traits.

Judge of the regular classes of the board of directors.

Local Executive Wins Coveted Judo Black Belt

Sol Sidman, 12 Applegarth Street, Newton Centre, vice president of Kenmore Industries, has won the coveted rank of Shodan (Blackbelt, first degree), thus becoming one of five blackbelt instructors in the Bay State Judo Club.

Bay State Judo Club is sponsored by the Newton recreation department, and meets in the field house on Tyler terrace, Newton Centre.

The club announces that its second annual Junior Judo Tournament will be held Sunday, May 16, at noon, at Newton South High School. Spectators will be admitted free to watch competition between youngsters from all parts of New England and as far away as Washington, D.C.

Party Held For Retiring Students' Group Advisor

Mrs. Winifred W. Geiger, for ten years an advisor to the Student Tigerama Committee, was feted recently at the home of Miss Kathy Muther, 133 Gibbs St., Newton Centre.

Mrs. Geiger was presented an engraved plaque commemorative of her decade with the young people, and other gifts, preparatory to her retirement.

With Mrs. Geiger's retirement, the value of the Tigerama meeting place has been questioned by high school officials in Newton. For this reason it was announced this week that the PTA at Newton High School has decided to discontinue Tigerama in its present form.

It is reported that Newton High School will replace Tigerama with varied and more educational activities and will operate a separate organization.

Ten years ago Newton High School and Newton South High School merged together to form Tigerama—a meeting place for the teens of both schools, a place to dance, play games, talk, or even start a spontaneous hootenanny.

Since Tigerama's beginning, as a committee under the P.T.A.'s, Mrs. Winifred Geiger has worked with the committee and contributed more to Tigerama than any other individual.

She helped it through the first difficult years while Tigerama faced the problems of a new organization and has continued to give her support.

Through the work of Mrs. Geiger and other parents, teachers and students, Tigerama has been a success. It has been successful not only because it has provided an opportunity for young people from both high schools to work together to plan something worthwhile, but also because it has shown the City of Newton that a large group of teens can gather together without fights, conflict or destruction of property.

Four times each year, with the two high schools alternating in providing the facilities, the committee has planned the music, games, entertainment and refreshments at Tigeramas. With the profits made during the year the committee has also given financial support to the American Field Service and other school organizations.

Mrs. Geiger is retiring this spring from her position of advisor to the Tigerama committee after ten years of service. Both past and present Tigerama committees are extremely grateful to her and expressed their appreciation at the recent party.

Celtics Stars At Eric Stevens Shop Saturday

Basketball fans, young and old, will gather on Saturday afternoon from 1 to 5 p.m. at Eric Stevens and The Huddle at 1146-1160 Beacon street, Four Corners, Newton Centre, to welcome K. C. Jones and Tom Sanders, members of the Boston Celtics, seven time N.B.A. champions.

Jones and Sanders will be kept busy answering questions about basketball, the play-offs, and their teammates, as well as autographing photos for youngsters.

This is the third year that Irving Black, owner of the recently expanded Eric Stevens and the new Huddle, boys' and young men's shops, has had members of the Celtics at his shop to entertain and instruct the youngsters from Newton and surrounding towns, who come to see their favorites.

Early Admission To Kindergarten Policy Continues

The policy of the past several years of admitting some children up to 3 months younger than the standard admission age will be continued for this coming academic year in the Newton schools.

The standard policy applicable to all children states that the child must be 4 years 8 months of age by September 1 in order to enter kindergarten.

However, children as young as 4 years 5 months by September 1 may be admitted to kindergarten if they pass a screening appraisal. Such children's birthdays must fall in January, February or March.

Parents may obtain application blanks from the elementary school principal in the district in which they live for the children to be examined for possible early admission. When the blanks are with Robert Berlin, the Junior Class president, accomplished the difficult task of persuading other students to share in their enthusiasm. Invaluable time and aid was given to them by their Junior Class advisor, Miss Susan Parker.

Too demanding to be just one of the many undertakings of this year's Junior Class, the Youth Center Project was placed under a special committee headed by Susan Gradone. Under her guidance this project has come to be a reality.

At present, all efforts are being directed towards the fund-raising drive which is headed by Janet Rome. The large rally which is being planned for the evening prior to the drive is under the supervision of Donella Goldman, assisted by Helen Calvert and Nancy Schuman.

Publicity of the drive and public relations has been undertaken by Lesley Savitz who is being aided by Elizabeth Snider, Margerie Gold, Gretchen Ernst, Carmine Pasquarosa, Ellen Segal and Solicitations of Newton businesses are being handled by Robert Remar, while clubs and other organizations are under the supervision of Charles Weiss. Pamela Nahseth leads the largest committee, that in charge of the residential drive.

His lifetime gets longer every minute . . .

It's a good deal longer than it was twenty or thirty years ago. And it gets longer every day, thanks in large part to medical research. Over a million men and women are alive today, cured of cancer. Research helped find the answers that saved their lives. Research costs money. The American Cancer Society invested over $12,000,000 last year in the search for more answers. Yet $2,000,000 in worthwhile research applications, could not be approved by the Society, FOR LACK OF FUNDS. Your dollars are desperately needed to help speed the day of victory. Retired Men's Club Has Ladies Day And Shows Members' Work

The Retired Men's Club of Newton held its fourth annual Ladies' Day at Newton Highlands Congregational Church, on Thursday, May 6. The program consisted of a regular business meeting, entertainment, an exhibit of the talents of some of the members, and a catered luncheon served to 229 members and guests.

The Glee Club, consisting of 20 men under the direction of Frank P. Pickett, entertained with several selections.

Allan J. MacQuarie sang a specialty solo. The Glee Club officers are Edward A. Currier, president; Samuel J. Melick, secretary, and Mr. MacQuarie, treasurer.

A colored motion picture highlighting the State of South Carolina followed.

Time was allowed between entertainment and luncheon to permit the members and guests to view the exhibit of talents and hobbies of the club members. Many paintings in oils and water colors were displayed, as were articles of handicrafts such as a marble top coffee table, inlaid nest of tables, driftwood creations, refinished chairs, colored photographic slides, and colored and black and white prints, and cabinet and miniature clocks.

There are several so-called sub-club activities meeting regularly, available for the benefit and interest of many club members. Some of these activities are a discussion group, a financial group, bowling, golf, photography, art, bridge and glee club.

During the luncheon, the co-founders of the club, William S. Knickerbocker and George A. Morley, were presented to the assembled members and guests. The club officers and committee chairmen were then introduced. They are:

John G. Learmonth, chairman of the executive committee; Allston T. Budgett, president; Edward R. Humphrey, newly appointed vice-president, to fill the unexpired term of Edward T. Jones, recently moved to the State of Oregon; Carl C. Perry, secretary; Richard M. Hill, assistant secretary; Carl S. Cooper, treasurer; Henry D. Stone, assistant treasurer; Frank H. Wrigley, chairman of the sick and visiting committee; Charles V. Gridley, chairman of the hospitality committee, and his co-chairman, Carl M. Penny, and Donald C. Root, chairman of the activities committee and of the Ladies' Day committee.

Among the special invited guests was the Rev. John M. Balcom, rector of St. Paul's Church, Newton Highlands, whose church provided a meeting place during the first months of the formation of the Retired Men's Club. Another special guest was the Rev. Paul G. Pitman, minister of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church, who has graciously offered the facilities of his church for the meetings of the club since 1960. With Mr. Pitman were Mrs. Pitman and the church's administrative secretary, Mrs. Arthur Fultz.

The next regular meeting of the club will be held on May 20 at 9:30 a.m. at Founders Hall, Newton Highlands Congregational Church.

Award For Good Ideas

Postmaster Ephraim Martin, right, congratulates George S. Mooney of Newton Centre office upon receiving award for suggestions to improve service.

Employees Honored For Postal Service

Two local post office employees were honored recently by Postmaster Ephraim Martin of Boston for their contributions to raising the efficiency of the postal service while lowering its cost of operation.

George S. Mooney, a letter carrier at the Newton Centre Post Office, received a financial reward and a certificate of merit for his good ideas and suggestions for streamlining delivery procedures.

At the same ceremony, Edward J. Whalen, superintendent of the Newton Centre Post Office, was given an award for adoption of his plan for instructing inexperienced substitute carriers.

The Whalen idea would facilitate the proper delivery of mail when these carriers are sent to new locations to work for one day only.

It marked the second award given to George S. Mooney. He recently was voted the best dressed carrier in Newton by his fellow carriers.

The recent awards also marked the third award for the Newton Centre office recently since Financial Clerk

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Salty's Reelection Chances Hurt By Civil Rights Vote

Senator Leverett Saltonstall probably injured his chances of winning reelection next year when he voted against Senator Edward M. Kennedy's proposal for prohibiting States from requiring payment of a poll tax as a prerequisite for the right to vote in local elections.

Not only has Saltonstall attracted a fire of criticism for his refusal to line up with Ted Kennedy and other Senate liberals on that issue, but he also has drawn charges that his voting record on civil rights measures back through the years leaves much to be desired.

The ADA, for example, declared that during the past 14 years Saltonstall has voted against civil rights legislation 61 per cent of the time.

One civil rights leader maintained publicly that Saltonstall's reputation as a liberal is undeserved and that he has never recorded himself in favor of a major civil rights change when the vote was close.

These developments have real political significance since Saltonstall will be facing a hard fight if he stands for reelection next year, as it is generally assumed he will.

Whitmore To Discuss MDC And This City

Howard Whitmore, former Mayor of Newton, and present Commissioner of the Metropolitan District Commission, will be the guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Newtonville Improvement Association. His subject will be "Newton and the M.D.C."

The meeting will be held at the new Horace Mann School on Watertown street in Newtonville, Thursday, May 27, at 8 p.m.

The parents and the teachers of the Horace Mann School are especially invited to this meeting; the Newtonville Improvement Association has always watched the progress of this school, and has followed the new construction with much interest.

Also, other Improvement Associations of Newton and Parent-Teacher Associations are cordially invited to this meeting, and can well take the opportunity to hear the new Commissioner. Many subjects will be discussed by Mr. Whitmore which are pertinent to the entire city.

"The medical school affiliation is an outgrowth of our continuing desire to provide patients of the area with the best total medical care possible, in light of current scientific achievement," commented Dr. Arthur D. Baldwin, Executive Committee Chairman and Chief of Medicine at Newton-Wellesley Hospital. "Affiliation gives our medical staff direct access to the men and skills responsible for major medical advances," he continued. "It assures an interchange of knowledge will occur. It means new knowledge will be brought to the hospital sooner, and will become of practical benefit to the patient faster. It puts the hospital in the vanguard of what promises to be the educational pattern of the future."

"We are pleased with this new affiliation with Newton-Wellesley Hospital," said Dr. Hayman. "Such affiliations are mutually valuable to the medical school and the hospital in that they provide an exchange of information between the school and the hospital resulting in not only increased educational opportunities, but better patient care."

Evidence of affiliation, according to Dr. Baldwin, will be seen first as residents from the Tufts-New England Medical Center participate in patient care programs at the 79-year old community hospital. While Newton-Wellesley Hospital traditionally has educated house officers, it now will coordinate its programs more closely with the University and with other affiliated hospitals.

"Affiliation is a state of mind as well as a practical educational vehicle," said George L. White, President of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Trustees.

"We anticipate our staff members will teach, and will be taught. The presence of Tufts' personnel here will contribute to even closer patient supervision and care. The result will be further upgrading of the professional skills collected at the hospital," he added.

Initially, the affiliation will encompass the Departments of Medicine and Surgery, Mr.

The hospital will function as it has traditionally. Only as the hospital and the university negotiate programs affecting both institutions will traditional patterns require adjustments.

Newton-Wellesley Hospital serves more than 9,000 bed patients annually. A busy emergency department receives over 1,100 patients monthly, on the average. The hospital established an intern training program in 1904, and a program of resident education in 1939.

Presently, the hospital is conducting a $3.5-million expansion program. A community-wide fund drive seeks to

Youth at Crossroads

A large segment of the citizenry of this Commonwealth, comprising dedicated men and women sincerely interested in salvaging some of the youthful delinquents making their early debut in our courts, are pressing for action on House Bill 3850.

The bill, still in the Ways and Means Committee, is concerned with meeting the educational challenges facing the Commonwealth which will affect these children for years to come.

This legislation is concerned with making the attempt to rehabilitate the fifteen-year-old delinquent. This task is manifestly easier than a similar move to reach the same youngster when he has attained adulthood. Often, by then, he has adopted a criminal behavior pattern which has been hardened by the passing years.

Competent teachers and counselors would be added to assist the splendid work of the Youth Service Board and Youth Centers, many now over-crowded and inadequate in providing the rehabilitation required in these young cases.

Governor John A. Volpe and Lieutenant Governor Elliot Richardson support House Bill 3850. More about this vital legislation will be seen in the daily and weekly press of the Commonwealth in the near future. It provides needed helping hand and a thrust in the right direction for many youngsters now standing at the crossroads.

St. Bernard's Parish Party Sunday, May 23

A "Spring Get-Together" will be held on Sunday, May 23rd between 2 and 4 p.m. at St. Bernard's School cafeteria. The purpose of this affair is to acquaint parishioners, both new and old, with the wide program of activities available at St. Bernards.

The program will include a talk by Monsignor O'Kane, some commentary on parish activities, light refreshments and the opportunity for parishioners to acquaint themselves not only with St. Bernard's and its activities, but also to meet and chat with their fellow parishioners.

Students Set Fund Raising Drive Sunday

Sunday, May 23rd, will find hundreds of dedicated students from both Newton High School and Newton South High School going door to door throughout Newton on a fund raising drive.

As the big day approaches, members of the Junior Classes from both schools are fervently working to make the drive a success by surpassing their $20,000 goal. The money is to be used to initiate an all-city Youth Center.

Present plans call for the renting of an existing building for a one year trial period. The Youth Center, it is hoped, will include a study area, recreational facilities, game rooms and a snack bar.

It is to serve the city's youth as a place to go on afternoons and week-end evenings. The center is to be run by the students themselves and to be maintained with the help of the city.

The project has steadily progressed due to the aid of many clubs and organizations, the most outstanding of which have been the Newton Recreational Department, the Newton Community Council and the Andover - Newton Theological School.

Arrangements have been made to bank the money which the students collect. This year's Junior Classes hope to pass on their Class Project to the following classes and hope that they will add to the funds.

Relations between Saltonstall and late John F. Kennedy were extremely warm when the latter was a junior U.S. Senator. It's extremely unlikely that the same thing is now true of Saltonstall and Ted Kennedy.

Ted asked Saltonstall to support his amendment to President Johnson's voting rights bill. Saltonstall refused.

Then Ted asked Saltonstall if he would vote for the amendment if a deadlock developed and his vote was the deciding one. Saltonstall replied that he would not.

Strong pressure was brought on Saltonstall in an effort to induce him to back Ted Kennedy's amendment.

Governor Volpe, Attorney General Brooke and Lieutenant Governor Elliot Richardson also importuned him to vote for Ted's measure. Civil rights leaders waited on him in Washington and made the same request.

But Saltonstall isn't one who yields easily to pressure. He stood firm.

He said he was against requiring payment of a poll tax as a prerequisite for the right to vote but that he was going to support the position of the Johnson administration.

Saltonstall also declared that the U.S. Attorney General had advised Congress that he felt a poll tax ban would be unconstitutional.

This neither satisfied nor ap-peased civil rights spokesmen, and one of the issues has been set up for next year's campaign if Saltonstall is a candidate for a new term.

Some political observers are speculating on whether Saltonstall's vote against Ted Kennedy's poll tax amendment is an indication that he does not plan to run again.

They reason that Saltonstall must have realized his reelection prospects would be hurt severely by his split with Ted Kennedy on the poll tax issue.

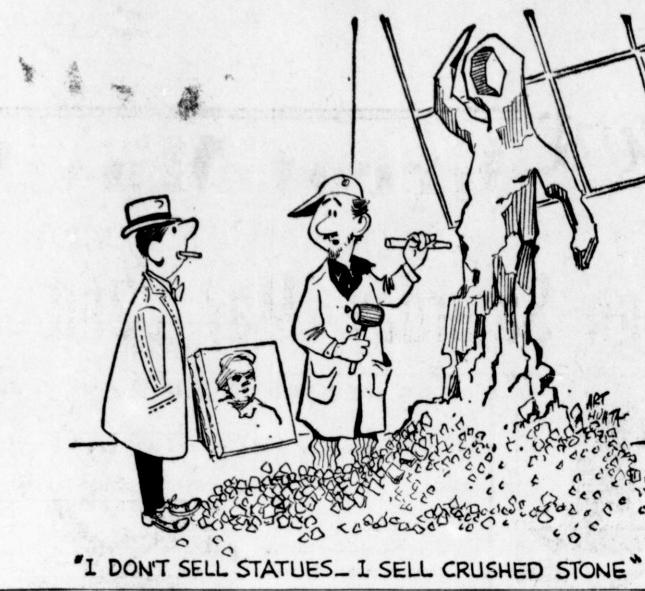

Saltonstall has a reputation as a great vote-getter. Actually, however, three of his four winning Senate fights were waged against soft opponents who were little more than political pushovers.

The only Democrat of real stature who challenged Saltonstall for his Senate seat was Foster Furcolo. Saltonstall and Furcolo engaged in a tight race in 1954 which Saltonstall won by about 29,000 votes. Furcolo might have emerged the victor except for disunity within the Democratic party.

Mayor Collins would be a much stronger contender next year than Furcolo was in 1954. It's doubtful that Saltonstall would be as potent a candidate as he was in '54.

This is an altogether different situation from the one which existed when ex-Governor Furcolo's sales tax bill was defeated or when ex-Governor Peabody's plan for increasing State income taxes were sent down the legislative drain.

Political Highlights

Some Bay State Republican leaders, including Attorney General Edward W. Brooke, undoubtedly will try to persuade Saltonstall to retire from office at the end of his present term. It is not expected they will be successful.

The age factor will be an issue if Saltonstall seeks reelection next year. He will be 74 years old, and he will be standing for a term which would run until he is 80.

The likelihood is that he will be challenged by an opponent of the caliber of Boston Mayor John F. Collins or former Governor Endicott Peabody, either of whom would have considerable appeal for many of the voters on whom Saltonstall normally would count for support.

If Saltonstall loses votes because of his age and his civil rights voting record, he would be in serious trouble in a fight with an adversary of the stature and political strength of Mayor Collins.

Relations between Saltonstall and late John F. Kennedy were extremely warm when the latter was a junior U.S. Senator. It's extremely unlikely that the same thing is now true of Saltonstall and Ted Kennedy.

This neither satisfied nor appealed to civil rights spokesmen, and one of the issues has been set up for next year's campaign if Saltonstall is a candidate for a new term.

Some political observers are speculating on whether Saltonstall's vote against Ted Kennedy's poll tax amendment is an indication that he does not plan to run again.

Mayor Collins would be a much stronger contender next year than Furcolo was in 1954. It's doubtful that Saltonstall would be as potent a candidate as he was in '54.

This is an altogether different situation from the one which existed when ex-Governor Furcolo's sales tax bill was defeated or when ex-Governor Peabody's plan for increasing State income taxes were sent down the legislative drain.

The people now aren't being asked whether they want new and higher taxes, the answer to which invariably is a ringing "No!"

Now they will be asked which of two tax programs they prefer. If the answer comes loud and clear, the lawmakers will be sure to listen.

All that seems certain now is that some tax plan will be adopted to pay the State's bills and to provide financial assistance for the cities and towns.

Exactly what that program finally will be, will remain in doubt while opposing sides exchange arguments and public opinion gradually crystallizes.

An increase in State income taxes for most people appears sure to be one phase of what ever plan is finally adopted since that is being proposed by both sides.

Governor Volpe's bill, which calls for a limited 3 per cent sales tax and a hike in the State income tax, has been under discussion for weeks and has won fairly substantial support.

Governor Volpe's bill, which calls for a limited 3 per cent sales tax and a hike in the State income tax, has been under discussion for weeks and has won fairly substantial support.

The income tax increase recommended in the substitute plan would be bigger than that proposed by Volpe.

One thing that has been impressive is the responsibility displayed by both Governor Volpe and Democratic leaders such as Senate President Maurice A. Donahue in their approach to the tax problem.

There is no disposition to sweep the problem under the rug as has been done at times in the past.

There is not attempt to pretend that the cities and towns don't need new revenue in order to lower their tax rates.

Volpe and Donahue disagree on what should be done, but they do agree that something must be done.

Their big area of disagreement, of course, is the limited sales tax which Volpe advocates and Donahue opposes.

Both Volpe and Donahue have arguments they can use and cards they can play as they maneuver for the enactment of the respective tax programs they are supporting.

Unless the so-called substitute tax plan is broadened, it would not provide as much money for the cities and towns as would Volpe's bill. That is one of Volpe's effective arguments.

On the other hand, the substitute plan probably will have an open-end feature to the State income tax which would allow the tax commissioner to increase income taxes up to a specified point to meet future needs of the local communities.

That idea has considerable support although it is not certain that a majority of legislators would be willing to vest that authority in an appointed State tax commissioner.

Democratic leaders on Beacon Hill undoubtedly have the voting strength to get the substitute program through the Legislature.

However, there is no certainty that they could pass it over Volpe's veto if he should reject it as he might if his own program is sidetracked and not put to a vote.

What eventually may decide the outcome of a tug-of-war over taxes is the public reaction to the various tax proposals which are advanced.

This is an altogether different situation from the one which existed when ex-Governor Furcolo was in 1954. It's doubtful that Saltonstall would be as potent a candidate as he was in '54.

Newton South Lands On Top

Newton South High's raging Lions landed on the Suburban League's roof last Monday afternoon by beating Brookline 4 to 1 in a cut-short-by-rain game on Lincoln Field, Waban.

On the previous Friday, South gave Weymouth High a 5 to 0 licking. Monday's win ended, for the time being, anyway, a three-way tie for the lead league with Newton and Waltham High.

Pitcher Bob Geist allowed Brookline only three scattered singles. Len Singer batted in three of the Lions' four tallies.

Even the most expensive watch can't keep time as precisely as Accutron. That's because all the mechanical parts that make a conventional watch fast or slow have been left out of it. The Accutron movement is electronic. It's powered by a battery that keeps a tiny tuning fork vibrating 360 times a second, and it comes with the first guarantee of accuracy ever given. (You might like to know that the U.S. uses Accutron movements in satellites and issued them to all X-15 pilots.) You can't give a man a more perfect gift of time.

Poverty, School Problems, Discussed By Speaker Here

Dr. William C. Kvaraceus, second vice president, Mrs. Ira Dyer; treasurer, Mrs. Samuel Beaser; recording secretary, Mrs. William Curby; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Irving Wecker.

Elected directors for 1965-1967 were Mrs. S. Peter Klapfer, Mrs. Peter Morehouse, Mrs. Paul Nation, Mrs. Matthew Ross and Mrs. Joseph Alexander.

Dr. Kvaraceus feels that the most important and gravest challenge facing any group of educators today is that of the disadvantaged learner; that is the socially disadvantaged learner, the culturally disadvantaged learner, or the deprived learner, whatever term is used.

The present school program is not adequate to help youngsters who require special school programs and specially trained personnel. This calls for extra school expenditure. The Federal Government is helping, he stated.

He further stated that the parents and school are locked in a terrible impasse. Schools have decided that pupils can't or won't learn and parents have decided that schools can't or won't teach their youngsters anything.

Dr. Kvaraceus suggests that the best way to interest these youngsters in staying in school is to pay them to learn. Programs are being worked on at the Lincoln Filene Center to aid these children. Mrs. Harold Stein was chairman of the luncheon. Mrs. Joseph Apelbaum gave a report on the State Convention.

At the business meeting of the league which was also held at this all day session, the annual treasurer's, and financial reports were read. The proposed budget for 1965-1966 was accepted. The local agenda consisting of (1.) Structure of Government for 1966, (2.) Newton, a guide to its government, a revision on two handbooks in the City of Newton, and (3.) Equality of Opportunity, was adopted.

Election of officers took place and the following were named: President, Mrs. Proctor Houghton; first vice president, Mrs. Joseph Apelbaum; election of officers took place and the following were named: President, Mrs. Proctor Houghton; first vice president, Mrs. Joseph Apelbaum;

The meeting, conducted by Mrs. James Baumstein of Chestnut Hill, vice president, will feature plans for the coming season, presented by Mrs. Leo Brown of Waban.

"Return Over Cost"
In all of these examples the net cost of insurance at the end of five years is very low when compared with the premiums paid. In ten years, and beyond, the policy's cash value and the sum of dividends amounts to much more than total premium payments. The difference is called your "return over cost." Return over cost figures are even more attractive when dividends are allowed to accumulate at interest.

Now that the National Service Life Insurance program has reopened, if you are eligible, we urge you to give it careful consideration. However, if you cannot buy adequate family protection with NSLI, low-cost Savings Bank Life Insurance is an excellent "buy." Too many family heads don't buy insurance because they believe they can't afford it. If you need more life insurance protection the above chart may help to convince you substantial coverage is within your reach.

Visit your Mutual Savings Bank or Institution for Savings

There are over 300 Mutual Savings Banks offices in Massachusetts. Several are probably located near where you work, live or shop. Savings Bank Life Insurance has been available since 1967 exclusively for people who live or work in Massachusetts. Policies totaling more than $1,000,000,000 are now in force.

Dividend illustrations in the above chart cannot be guaranteed but are based on March 1, 1965 dividend scale paid by 31 of 36 Savings Banks on policies issued since April 2, 1962.

If you need more life insurance protection than you can afford Pyramid Plan uses your dividends to buy amazing extra coverage.

Citizens Seek To Interview Redevelopment Appointees

An opportunity to question the mayor's four appointees to the Redevelopment Authority is sought by a group of residents who have indicated a desire to find out for themselves whether they have the necessary qualifications, what their urban renewal policy would be, and whether there is any possible conflict of interest.

Miss Mary P. Cunningham, president of the Charles River Civic Association, left a petition signed by 72 residents last Friday with the city clerk. It requests the Aldermen to hold a public meeting and urges the members of the Board to fulfill "not only a legal requirement in approving the appointments, but a moral requirement in allowing the people who will be vitally concerned an opportunity to know the individuals in whose hands will rest their future lives."

Further, it asks the Aldermen to withhold any action on the appointments until such a meeting is held. Also the petitioners request that in the interim period "consideration be given to alternative means of curing any ills within this

Marijuana Smoking Matter For Police

Marijuana-smoking by teenage Newton boys and girls is a problem which should be handled by law-enforcement officers rather than school officials, School Superintendent Charles E. Brown told members of the School Committee at their meeting Monday night.

Dr. Brown made the observation in commenting on the arrests last Saturday of three Newton boys, two 16 years old and one 15, on charges of possessing a narcotic drug and giving a narcotic drug.

The arrests were made after a 10-week investigation by Newton police, during which approximately 40 boys, including students at both Newton High School, and Newton South High, were questioned.

The probe was launched in mid March when police received complaints that teenage marijuana parties were being held in Newton.

Even though Dr. Brown considers marijuana smoking a police problem, Richard Mecham, principal of Newton High School, will confer with parents on the matter.

"We probably should react in some way to what has happened," Brown declared, adding that he would have a further report on the subject at the next School Committee meeting.

We have considered this strictly a matter for the police, the youngsters involved and their parents," Dr. Brown stated. "The schools are involved only to the extent that we have cooperated all we can with the police.

In response to a question by School Committeewoman Norma Mintz, Dr. Brown said that as far as he was aware no marijuana had been sold on school property.

He said, however, that it was a difficult problem to trace completely.

"As you know," the school superintendent declared, "this apparently has been going on for some period of time, but we have not been aware of it as a school problem."

Crime Board Report Impact

Not As Great As Expected

Spot checks of voter sentiment indicate that the stunning and shocking report of the State Crime Commission didn't make the public impact which would normally be expected.

At a recent meeting attended by about 200 persons those present were asked whether they were more interested in the Crime Board findings or the controversy over what new taxes should be enacted.

A big majority indicated they were much more concerned over the problem of taxes than with what the Crime Commission had to say.

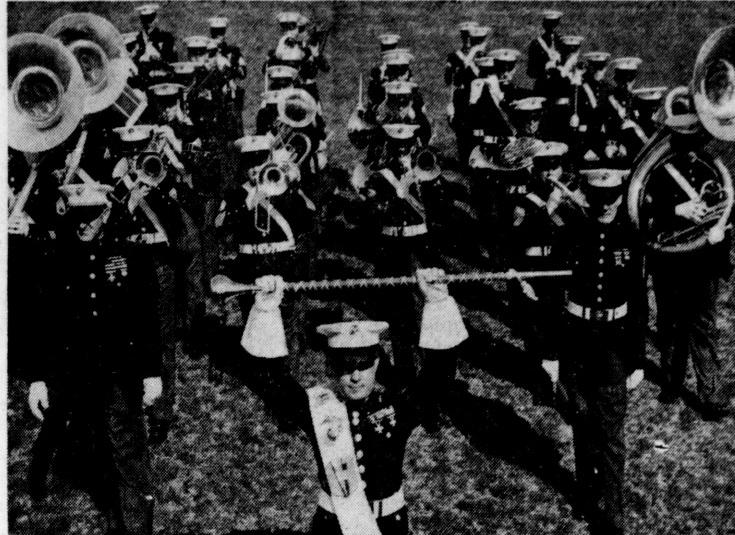

What the explanation is for this public reaction to the Crime Board report is uncertain.

Marines March On Monday

The musical Leathernecks of the Marine Corps Schools Band of Quantico, Va., will again feature Newton's Memorial Day parade Monday morning. This is one of Uncle Sam's finest service bands.

Annual Parade, Cemetery Rites, For Memorial Day

A colorful parade and ceremonies honoring the dead of all the nation's wars will highlight Newton's observance of Memorial Day.

Thousands of Newton residents also will journey to cemeteries this weekend to kneel in prayer at the graves of loved ones.

The famed U. S. Marine Corps Band is coming here from Quantico, Va., to participate in the big Memorial Day parade which will start at 10:30 on Monday morning.

Solemn exercises will be held at the GAR Monument and the Veterans' Lot in Newton Cemetery during stops in the parade.

U. S. Senator Leverett Saltonstall will deliver the principal address at the rites at the GAR Monument.

Newton Boys Club Awards Given Today

The Newton Boys Club will hold its 11th Annual Awards Dinner at Our Lady's Cafeteria tonight, Thursday, May 27th, starting at 7 o'clock. Philip F. Cacciatoe is general chairman.

Vito "Babe" Parilli, star quarterback of the Boston Patriots, will be the principal speaker.

The 34-year old Parilli last Fall soared to the greatest season of one of football's most dramatic careers. In quarterbacking the Patriots to their best season record of all time, 10-3-1, and the brink of another Eastern title, the "Babe" fired for 3,441 yards and 31 touchdowns.

More than 100 boys, in company with their relatives and friends, will be honored at the dinner in lieu of their outstanding achievements during the 1964-65 Boys' Club year program.

W. Edward Wilson, president of the Boys' Club, will open the evening's program. Rev. Francis X. Quinn, pastor of Our Lady's church and a member of the board of directors of the club, will give the invocation. Chairman Philip F. Cacciatoe will be the toastmaster.

Personnel will be available to process any copy received on Saturday. All departments will be closed on Monday. There will be no change in the publication date next week.

Mayor Donald L. Gibbs will be the main speaker at the ceremonies at the Veterans' Lot. Also participating will be former Mayor and present MDC Chairman Howard Whitmore, Jr., and former Congressman Lawrence Curtis.

In addition to the Marine Band, they will be the Newton High School and Newton South High School Bands, the Weeks Junior High School Band, the Salvation Army band, St. Bartholomew's junior band of Needham, the Warren Junior High School Band and the Pulsifer Drum Corps.

Seven bands will be in the line of march of the parade.

Starting from the intersection of Washington and Crafts streets at 10:30 a.m. Monday, the parade will move west on Washington street, south on Walnut street, south on Walnut street to Commonwealth avenue and the War Memorial Flag Staff where the column will halt for the placing of wreaths and a prayer by the Rev. Robert W. Golde of the Church of Messiah in Auburndale.

After that pause, the column will proceed south on Walnut street to the Newton Cemetery and halt for the placing of wreaths and a prayer by the Rev. Robert W. Golde of the Church of Messiah in Auburndale.

Following those ceremonies, the parade will march out of the main gate of the cemetery, turn north on Walnut street and west on Commonwealth avenue to City Hall, where the parade will pass in review and the Marine Corps Band will perform for the chief of staff, the chief marshal, the adjutant general and their staffs.

That was the year they put the balance wheel into the watch and started watches ticking. Now the tick tock is obsolete. After 300 years, it's been replaced by the tiny Accutron tuning fork which keeps time through vibrations. The result: a very faint hum and the most precise wrist timepiece ever. Accutron guarantees average monthly accuracy within 60 seconds. We'd say this is the perfect gift of time.

Honor Awards Day Is Held At Jr. College

In his address at the Awards Day Convocation, held at the Newton Memorial Auditorium Tuesday, May 25, President Dudley touched upon the increased enrollment of this year just ending, "the persistent issue of space and facilities and the overriding imperative for some solution", the Board of Directors as an emerging force in planning for and implementing the development of the College and the continuing pursuit of excellence at Newton Junior College as the first accredited public junior college in New England.

He discussed the success of the expanding cultural program of the College, the plans for new technical programs, and the growing involvement of community groups and organizations with the College. President Dudley reviewed the growth of the College in implementation of its philosophy.

In his conclusion, President Dudley expressed the credo that "the total effect" of the events of the year ending inspire greater vision, and unyielding purpose".

The program included an honors address by a ranking scholar of the graduating class, given by Mrs. Sheila Dean Hollis, a student in the Nursing Program. Speaking on the "Good Will" Mrs. Hollis stressed the need of purpose for full development of a productive mind, personal growth and intellectual enrichment.

In accordance with tradition, the program included the conferring of academic scholarship, service, and athletic awards, Dean Charles D. Merrill presiding.

Academic awards for excellence in Biology, Joseph Meroia; for excellence in Life Sciences, Diana Janiak, for excellence in Chemistry, George Jett of Newton; for excellence in Physics, Paul Flynn of Newton.

The Kiwanis Scholarship for outstanding scholarship as well as need, Lois Marchand of Newton. Partial tuition scholarship during the current year were awarded to Helen Andriessen, Sheila Hollis and Shirley Nadelman, as well as Joseph Gardner, Ann Ritchey, and Jane Timmerman of Newton.

The solution to the problem of retail pricing is quite simple. If the law is enacted, there will be a retroactive period to approximately May 15th from which time prepaid taxes will be rebated by the government. To protect our customers, we are keeping accurate records of our sales from that date and any taxes that may be rebated to us will in turn be rebated to our customers. This procedure should obviate any hesitancy to purchase your current needs now. You need not suffer this summer waiting for Congress to act. Even with the tax, prices are lower than ever before.

Girl Scouts To Have Exchange In Lower Falls

An exchange at which Girl Scouts, either active members or prospective, can sell or buy official Scout items or program aids and materials will begin operations on Tuesday, June 1, on the second floor of the Newton Lower Falls library branch on Grove St.

It has been founded under the direction of Mrs. Kenneth A. Spilman, Troop 867 leader in the Quinobequin neighborhood. It will also be open Tuesdays, June 8 and 15, and again on four Tuesdays in September and October.

Scouts are asked to use the library's side entrance. According to Scout regulations, official Girl Scout uniform and equipment may be purchased only through authorized dealers and designated persons. It is requested, therefore, that trade shops, exchanges and rummage sales no longer accept such items for sale, and instead, donate them to the new Girl Scout Exchange.

Profits from the exchange will be applied to roundup expenses for Newton Girl Scouts.

Acceptable items for sale are uniforms or parts of uniforms, for Brownies, Juniors, Cadettes, Seniors and Adults, including belts, hats, ties, sashes and blouses (but no socks); handbooks for all levels, American and troop flags, poles and stands; emblems and numerals, camp and cookout equipment; books, games, records, craft materials, etc.

Haskell C. Freedman

Haskell C. Freedman's resignation from the Newton School Committee will leave a void on that body which will not be easily filled.

Chairman Freedman is responsible in no small measure for the high standard of public school education in Newton.

A highly able, conscientious, dedicated and diligent public official, he has served with great distinction on Newton's School Committee for almost 16 years, seven of them as chairman.

His goal was to provide the best possible education for Newton children. The satisfaction he received from achieving that objective was his reward for the effort, the energy, the time and talent he expended in the cause of quality education in this city.

Parents of Newton children owe a real debt of gratitude to Haskell C. Freedman for the outstanding job he has done as a member and chairman of the School Committee.

Appeal A Success

Editor of The Graphic:

May I express to you, in behalf of the Combined Jewish Philanthropies of Greater Boston, our most sincere thanks for your cooperation in connection with our 1965 Appeal, which has just concluded.

We were successful in raising a total of $5,183,000 in this year's campaign, representing an increase of some $150,000 over last year. I feel sure that the generous assistance given by the Graphic in informing the community of the campaign and the needs was an important factor in helping to achieve this result.

In the name of the many agencies that we support and the thousands of men, women and children who benefit from the work of the Combined Jewish Philanthropies, our deepest appreciation.

ABRAHAM GOODMAN
General Campaign Chairman

Tax Comment

Editor of The Graphic:

Kindly print this letter on the Editorial page as a citizen's comment on the elevation of taxes.

Sure we have taxation with representation today — but, I'm beginning to wonder if the wrong Aldermen were voted into office. It's must that we take extreme care in the future to discriminate on the next election date — because the homeowner's blood is running cold and thin!

Revenue is of a major concern to all who live in this thriving city — but, revenue with a respect for the rights of its homeowners. Otherwise, it's mania!

It would appear that the governing body should take the view that it must act in the same manner as a household is run: supplying all needs and using any surplus when necessary. And loans when desperate!

We can not escape this "high cost of living age," nor can we save because of it. This is, without the conscience of our leaders who have in their hands the power to assist the cause of good government rather than pursue poor judgement.

We have two alternatives: either pay up and shut up, or move out. Yet, we hang on hoping all schools, roads, major projects and pay raises for officials have come to an end for a period of time — that the burden will let up somewhat.

Once the home is paid in full the taxes mount up to the same as paying rent — so you are certainly not encouraging people to buy: with it's yard to maintain, water bills to be paid, insurances, maintenance costs, plus improvements. It's senseless plunder into the average family's pocket, and I hope to see a correction by next year.

You weren't contented to raise the assessments last year — no you had to vote in a big hike in property taxes. It's high time someone thought of new ways and means. Make Newton a first in this, if you must. But do something. Take the pressure off — so that we know the octopus has not left the depths of the ocean and taken up residency at our City Hall.

Publicity Helps

Editor of The Graphic

It is with pleasure and a deep sense of gratitude that I take this opportunity to extend my thanks to you and members of your editorial staff for the valuable assistance rendered this office during the recent filing period.

The many changes in the tax laws, occasioned by the Revenue Act of 1964, created tremendous problems for the taxpayers at the time of complying with filing requirements. The publication of our releases in the columns of your newspapers was a major contribution to the success of our Information and Education Program developed for the purpose of assisting taxpayers in the preparation of their Federal income tax returns.

Without the assistance and cooperation of the news media, we would have been confronted with the gigantic task of disseminating tax information district wide yet lacking adequate facilities with which to perform the task.

As District Director for the Internal Revenue Service for Massachusetts, I want you to know how grateful I am for the assistance rendered and trust the future will hold us a continuance of the same fine relations we have enjoyed.

Our purpose to promote informed and active participation of citizens in government has certainly been furthered through the use of your newspaper.

I know my successor, Mrs. Thomas Easton, is looking forward to a continued pleasant association with you.

Sincerely,
MRS. R. B. FEINBERG

Political Highlights

Perhaps it was because the report was too general in nature and didn't name names. Many people don't understand that under the law it had to be that way.

Maybe the people have come to expect the kind of charges and allegations contained in the final Crime Commission report. That would be tragic if true.

Possibly some people have adopted a wait-and-see attitude until indicted public officials have been tried in court and have been found innocent or guilty.

Two interesting reactions were drawn from some persons who have read the news stories during the past two years about the work of the Crime Commission.

Many people questioned about the Crime Board investigation and findings said they couldn't understand why some persons who paid bribes were granted immunity instead of being prosecuted.

The answer of course is that this was the only way the Crime Board probes could get evidence against an official who allegedly accepted a bribe. And if the case is to stand up in court the person who paid the bribe presumably will be obliged to testify that he did so.

However, there is some merit to the belief that a crime begins with the person who offers a bribe and that he should be dealt with at least as severely as the official to whom he paid the bribe. If there were no bribe-givers, there would be no bribe-takers.

A feeling also exists that some officials may have been indicted for relatively trivial offences and that this will become apparent when trials are held and testimony given in court. Whether that is so is a question time will answer.

Above all else, there is public puzzlement concerning the long lapses of time between an indictment and an actual trial.

People don't understand that attorneys for indicted persons may be engaged in time-consuming legal maneuvers; neither do they understand why an indicted official who professes his innocence doesn't try to clear himself as quickly as he can.

As one woman put it, a big stir is created when an official is indicted, and then nothing seems to happen. That isn't quite the fact, but it's easy to see how that impression could be created.

Whatever the full explanation, the Crime Commission report does not appear to have caused the storm of public indignation which would be anticipated.

Incidentally, the furore on Beacon Hill over the failure of the Crime Board to name the 28 legislators it declared received $138,000 in salaries and commissions from the Turnpike Authority is somewhat silly.

Under a provision in the law which authorized the creation of the Crime Commission, it was specifically prohibited from making such names public.

When the Crime Board was set up, it was bound to secrecy in its investigations and was restricted to submitting evidence of wrongdoing to a Grand Jury.

If any of the legislators violated the law in accepting salaries or commissions from the Turnpike Authority, that evidence undoubtedly has been turned over to Attorney General Edward W. Brooke for presentation to Grand Jury.

If they didn't violate the law, there's not much justification for identifying them, and in that case it's not likely their names ever will be made public.

Christina Olton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Olton, 17 Mayflower Terr., Newton Highlands, was awarded two major prizes in music at DePauw University's annual Recognition Chapel held recently in Greencastle, Ind. Her honors: The Van Denman Thompson Plaque, which goes to the senior who has best demonstrated outstanding leadership in scholarship and music achievement, and membership in Pi Kappa Lambda, which goes to juniors or seniors in the upper 20 percent of their class, and who show exceptional ability in applied music, composition and music education.

How much chance Peabody has of gaining his party's nomination for the Senate and the right to stand against Senator Leverett Saltonstall, may depend on where Boston Mayor John F. Collins next sets his political sights.

Peabody is expected to run either for the Governorship or the U.S. Senate in 1966, but while the position as State Auditor would have been a step down for him, it would have kept him in public office and in the public eye. Peabody apparently wasn't interested

Community Center Taking Registrations For Camps

Registrations are now underway at the Newton Community Center for its Kinder Kamp and Day Camp Programs. They will continue until the full enrollment at both camps are reached. Parents are urged to register as soon as possible to insure their child a place in the camp. Last year, both camps operated with long waiting lists.

The Day Camp, which will again be headed by James C. Callahan, assistant director at the Center, will operate Monday through Friday between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. The camp will operate for an eight week period beginning on June 28th and ending on August 20th. Children may be registered for a minimum of 2 weeks. More than two weeks is optional.

The Day Camp will be located at the beautiful Severe Hale Camping Reservation in Westwood. It will serve boys and girls 7 to 12 years of age. The camp site includes 10 acres of tree covered land, cookout accommodations, 300 acres of long winding nature trails, and a swimming facility area.

Campers leave from in front of the Center by bus each morning at approximately 9:00 a.m. The activity is quite varied with swimming, (instruction and free swimming), arts and crafts, sports, cookouts, and trips all included. Children bring a lunch daily and are served milk.

The Community Center is fortunate to have Miss Mary Hancourt available to supervise the waterfront and coordinate swimming instruction this year. Red Cross swim testing will go on throughout the summer for youngsters.

Miss Gayle Saunders, Agency Girls worker, will return this summer to head the Kinder Kamp for boys and girls 4 to 6 years of age. The Kinder Kamp will also operate for an eight week period beginning on June 28th and ending on

West Newton Joint Effort Opens To Aid Handicapped

The officials of the Newton Kiwanis Club, Barron's Department Store and Morgan Memorial Goodwill Industries, jointly announced today that a West Newton public service project for aiding handicapped people to become "Tax Payers" through gainful employment has been established.

A large Blue and Gold Goodwill Collection Box has been set up in the parking lot of Barron's Department Store, 99 Water Street, West Newton. Customers and friends of the handicapped are urged to deposit their no-longer needed and repairable articles of clothes, and small household items which can be cleaned, repaired and reused — to provide jobs for willing and handicapped workers.

Morgan Memorial Goodwill Industries is the largest voluntary, non-profit agency in New England serving disabled men and women regardless of age, race, or creed. Working in the Goodwill Industries gives them a chance to earn a living wage and these disabled people would rather work cleaning and making over old clothes and other discards and be self-supporting than accept public charity.

Articles of clothing, small household items, discarded jewelry, books and bric-a-brac will help maintain daily employment for some 550 handicapped workers at Goodwill Industries in Boston.

Leaders of the Newton Kiwanis Club who donated this Goodwill Collection Box, joined in urging full support of the townspeople in keeping the Goodwill box full.

Howard A. Patterson, public relations director of Morgan Memorial emphasized that 2100 fifty pound bags of materials are needed each day to keep 550 handicapped workers on the payroll. "Many of the disabled, who are unable to find employment anywhere else, are given jobs at Morgan Memorial where a few work for many years, but many learn a trade or skill which enables them to accept outside employment," Patterson said.

George Huberman, president of Barron's Department Store of West Newton said, "The person who deserves help most is the one who helps himself . . . one who doesn't want charity but just a chance to stand on his own feet again. Handicapped people, particularly, want to be self-reliant, to have self-respect, and the opportunity to become independent useful citizens."

Robert Lurvey, president, speaking for the Newton Kiwanis Club, said, "We are happy to be associated with this worth-while service project and to have a part in helping to make all this possible through Morgan Memorial Goodwill Industries.

"We will be interested in keeping an eye on the number of truckloads of useful materials which are picked up daily from our 'Operation Goodwill' so that less fortunate persons will have a chance to work for wages instead of accepting public charity.

Neatly folded Goodwill Bags are available at the Goodwill Collection Box in the parking lot of Barron's Department Store for "DISCARDS" which will be turned into "TIME CARDS."

Four Retreats By Stigmatine Order In June

The Stigmatine Fathers plan four special retreats at the Espousal Shrine and Retreat House in Waltham during the month of June. Highlight of the month will be the Ecumenical Retreat for all Christians to be held over the weekend of June 18-20. This retreat, open to men and women of all religious denominations will be conducted by Rev. Robert Cunnane of the Stigmatine Seminary in Wellesley, and Rev. Richard Pearson of the First Lutheran Church in Waltham. Last year a total of 60 Protestants and Catholics attended the Ecumenical Weekend on a daily basis.

An Engaged Couple retreat will be sponsored over the weekend of June 4-6 for all those contemplating marriage in the near or distant future. The Espousal Retreat House is one of the few in the New area to offer this preparation weekend for those planning to be married. Over the past few years some 500 couples have made these retreats.

Married couples are invited over the weekend of June 11-13. Without meals to prepare and children to care for, the couples get down to the business of inter-communication and dialogue on Christian concerns of the modern day as they affect the family.

As far as civic and church assistance goes, perhaps the people most neglected are widows and separated women. For the past four years retreats have been offered to these women to help them meet their problems in a realistic way. This year, the weekend of June 25-27 has been set aside so that these women can gather together to share their common concerns.

At General Assembly The Rev. Burton S. Smith, minister of the United Presbyterian Church, Vernon St., Newton, attended the 177th General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church in the United States, held in Columbus, Ohio.

At Urological Meeting Dr. Edwin L. Prier, 194 Waban Ave., Waban, participated in the recent program of the American Urological Association in New Orleans. He led a discussion on one of the papers presented during the four-day meeting.

Lasell Student Nurse Elected To State Office

A first-time honor has come to Lasell Junior College, Auburndale, with the election of Gretchen Boyer, a junior honoree student in Lasell's nursing program, to the office of second vice president of the Student Nurses Association of Massachusetts.

Miss Boyer was presented to the voting delegates of the Association at the meeting of Florence Nightingale Services, held recently at Boston College.

The Student Nurses Association is divided into eight Massachusetts districts, and Lasell's nursing program, as an active member of the 15-year-old organization, is one of eight schools in the sixth district.

Messiah Church Guild Honors Two Members

Members of the Guild of the Church of Messiah in Auburndale presented gifts to the retiring president, Mrs. Robert Wilkes, and to a former president, Mrs. Earl Wood, who is leaving Newton, at the Guild's recent annual luncheon.

Mrs. Alfred N. Mosher was luncheon chairman, and Mrs. Andreas Anderson decorated the tables with beautiful flower arrangements.

The following sale of officers was presented by Mrs. Leroy Faulkner, nominating committee chairman: President, Mrs. Peter Jamis; vice president, Mrs. Albert E. Everett; recording secretary, Miss Ruth Burgess, corresponding secretary, Mrs. Henry Rice, treasurer, Mrs. Malcolm Jackson, and assistant treasurer, Mrs. Hubert Ames.

Police

When School Committee Chairman Francis P. Frazier asked what should be done if parents request that their children be protected, Superintendent Brown reiterated that it is a police problem unless the sale of marijuana occurs in a school, in which case school authorities would have a responsibility.

Under questioning by police one student said that he began smoking marijuana when he was contacted by a "pusher" while attending a civil rights meeting in Washington. He disclosed that he subsequently made several trips to New York to obtain supplies of marijuana which he shared with his friends.

The three boys arraigned last Saturday in the juvenile session of Newton district court are now in the custody of their parents. Their case was continued until tomorrow.

Proposed Burr School Taking
Of Homes Arouses 7 Owners

Seven owners of property on Pine St., West Newton, indicated objection during a hearing recently in the Aldermanic chamber to the taking of land for the new Burr School that would replace the existing Burr and the Murray Road Schools.

Their opposition, expressed verbally by five of them, was based, they said, on fear that the city would pay less for their homes than it would cost to relocate in Newton.

Questioned by President Wendell R. Bauckman, each of the five said that he or she objected not to the taking of 10 lots of land on Pine St. for school construction, but only to the possibility that the "fair market value" that would be placed on their property by city appraisers would not be sufficient to allow them to purchase another home in Newton as good as the one that would be taken.

Questioned further, they said they had no understanding whatever of the methods and procedures now used in evaluating land taken by eminent domain.

One of the objectors, John Yerardi of 157 Pine St., told the Board that he had lived in Newton for 57 years, during 36 of which he had been a city employee, and that he hoped to live here the rest of his life. Like the others, he expressed doubt that he could afford to buy another home in the city unless he received a substantial price for his present home.

Other objectors were Mrs. Elizabeth Walsh, 163 Pine St.; Salvatore J. Yerardi, 158 Pine St., and Mrs. James Flynn Jr., 167 Pine St.

In a departure from custom, opponents were heard prior to proponents at this hearing. The reason given was that the opponents had come to City Hall promptly and the proponents had not.

Bauckman, having allowed the objectors to have their say, called on Vincent Burns, commissioner of public buildings, and John E. Gilliland, director of business services for the school system, to speak as proponents. He asked them to explain the land-taking procedures and to give the reasons for selection of the proposed school site.

Burns explained that the present law provides that in condemnation proceedings got merely an appraised value but a fair market value must be paid. Appraisals are made, he said, by professionally competent men who are well able to arrive at a fair price.

Gilliland said that the question of location had been studied for a number of years, and the site had been selected because of its central location in the area the school is to serve.

Burns explained that it was proposed to erect the school on solid ground, which meant that land occupied by homes would have to be taken. He added that the land to be used for the school's recreation facilities was on the site of the former Pine St. dump, an area not suitable for building construction.

Aldermen, including Theodore D. Mann, Edward C. Uehlein, Harry H. Ham Jr., Jack M. Roberts, Melvin J. Dangel and Franklin N. Flaschner, agreed that the Pine St. group was entitled to the courtesy of a full explanation of the details of land-taking procedures, and a number of ways to give them an understanding were suggested. It was finally agreed, however, that the matter involves law, and that the city solicitor, who was not present at the meeting, should be asked to provide a clear explanation.

There was considerable outspoken objection during another hearing, this one on a petition of WNAC-TV for storage of 5000 gallons of fuel oil in an underground tank at the site of the transmitter and tower, 45 Tower Rd., off Needham St., Newton Highlands.

President Bauckman ruled that the hearing had become a recital of grievances because of the opponents' insistence on expressing their objection to the presence of the lofty TV tower in their neighborhood, and brought the hearing to an end.

The opponents, all residents of Newton Upper Falls, whose homes are in the tower's vicinity, maintained that they had received notice of the fuel tank hearing as abutters, but had not been considered to be abutters at the time construction of the tower was under consideration.

City Clerk Monte G. Basbas explained that it was his custom to send notices to abutters and even to abutters in situations such as that involving the present petition and the application for the tower site. His letter to property owners in the tower area, calling attention to the tank hearing, did not refer to them as abutters. Basbas said that names of persons who should be interested in hearings are supplied him by the assessors, and that he sends notices to all of them in addition to advertising the hearings in three newspapers.

Young People Help Nursery School Children

A wonderful job for the Pomroy House has been done by the Senior High Pilgrim Fellowship of the Auburndale Congregational Church.

That energetic young group put in a full day of painting, sweeping and dusting the basement playroom. Also, due to the group's energy, a large muscle apparatus will soon be set up at the nursery school so children may use it when prevented by rain from using the playground.

The young people in the Fellowship group, who operated under the direction of their advisor, Martin Gibbs, were Don Winterhalter, Kirk Meyer, Philip Nelson, Sanford Winslow, Judy Carmichael, Sandra Carmichael, Marcia Kasabian, Julie Thurber, Cathy Coyle and Eric Meyer.

Buy a Volvo, keep it a long time, and get out from under car payments for a change.

What's a long time? Eleven years is a long time. That's how long Volvos are driven in Sweden, where the highways have no speed limit and there are 70,000 miles of unpaved roads.

How long will a Volvo last in the States? We don't know yet. Volvos have only been here nine years. But if you had a Volvo compact and kept it half that eleven years you could spend your money on something besides car payments. And you'd save money on gas, too. Volvos get 25 miles to the gallon even with automatic transmission. Come in any time and test drive one.

Girl Scouts In Natick Outing

Seven Village Neighborhood Girl Scout troops enjoyed an outing recently at Camp Mary Day in Natick.

The morning was given to a workshop with instruction in tent-pitching and fire-building. In the afternoon there was a sing led by Mrs. Murray Glickman. That was followed by campcraft demonstrations, a treasure hunt for nature materials and a movie of Girl Scout camping in Oregon.

Taking part in the demonstrations were Senior Scouts Sharon Rooney, Lisa Hurd, Chris Laning, Sue Mescom and Lynn Belcastro.

The troops participating were Cadettes 545, Brownies 848, 875, 858 and 854, and Juniors 577 and 607.

The study will gather and analyze information on the changing needs and services in each community, determine how existing services are used, and find out where people feel that needs for health, welfare and recreation can be improved.

The project is financed by private foundations, and government agencies, and is sponsored by the U.S. Public Health Service, United Community Services, and Combed Jewish Philanthropies.

Dr. Morris Axelrod, project director, gives assurance that under no circumstances will any information on individual respondents be released, and each reply will be held in strict confidence.

Project Seeks Planning Data For Community

Trained representatives of the Community Research Project of Metropolitan Boston enter the second phase this week of their interviewing in more than 50 communities, including Newton.

The task force of some 50 interviewers aims for a storehouse of up-to-date population facts that will provide guidelines for basic long-range planning of community programs.

The study will gather and analyze information on the changing needs and services in each community, determine how existing services are used, and find out where people feel that needs for health, welfare and recreation can be improved.

He expressed the opinion that Newton's police force should be enlarged to provide greater protection for residents of the city, asserting that the present force is too small to cover the city which has been harassed by burglaries and vandalism.

Enough savings should be realized from careful city planning and the updating of the operation of the municipal government to more than cover the cost of additional police, Yarosh declared.

Mr. Yarosh has been seeking the establishment of a cultural and recreation center and has conferred with members of the city's Recreation Commission concerning the feasibility of such a step.

and received the Bachelor of Arts degree, and the Boston University Law School where he was awarded the Gray Scholarship.

He has been a practicing attorney for almost 13 years, maintains his main law office at 100 State street, Boston, and has a suburban office at 69 Union street, Newton Centre.

Active in civic affairs, he served as captain and district director for the United Fund in Newton and this year was president of the Spaulding School PTA.

Mr. Yarosh and his wife, Phyllis, who is also an attorney, are active with the Country Players of Newton, and Mr. Yarosh serves on its Board of Directors and as its treasurer.

He is a member of Temple Israel, is affiliated with various Bar Associations, is a member of the Euclid Lodge, AF and AM, and is past Chancellor Commander of the Ivanhoe Lodge, Knights of Pythias.

Yarosh is now serving his second elected four-year term as a member of the Ward 8 Democratic Committee and is treasurer of the committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Yarosh have two daughters, Gail, 12, and Martha, 9, who attend Meadowbrook Junior High School and Spaulding School respectively.

While attending Boston University Law School, Yarosh was elected associate editor of the Law Review and also was Chancellor of The Legal Society, Tau Epil Rho.

He was admitted to practice in the Massachusetts courts shortly after his graduation from law school, was admitted to practice before the Federal Courts in 1954 and before the U. S. Supreme Court in 1957.

Mr. Yarosh voiced the conviction that many of the operations of Newton's city government can be modernized with resulting economies which would allow other services without increasing the city's tax rate.

The project is financed by private foundations, and government agencies, and is sponsored by the U.S. Public Health Service, United Community Services, and Combed Jewish Philanthropies.

Dr. Morris Axelrod, project director, gives assurance that under no circumstances will any information on individual respondents be released, and each reply will be held in strict confidence.

Newton South Nine Champs Of Their League

The first major sports championship in Newton South High School's history was attained last Monday afternoon, when the Lions fashioned their 10th straight baseball victory in defeating Cambridge Latin 16 to 5 on Cambridge's field.

The Suburban League title belongs to Newton South no matter how the final game turns out against Watertown. (That game was played yesterday, Wednesday, too late for its result to be made known in this week's issue of The Graphic.)

South's remarkable showing this season may well be accredited to Pitchers Bob Geist and Lenny Finkel. With Monday's game under his belt, Finkel had a 6-0 record, and up to that day, Geist's score was 5-2.

Perhaps the reason why Geist's record this year has been less impressive than that of Finkel is the fact that he has been in there against the toughest opposition.

90 Andover Newton Graduates Join School's 1800 Living Alumni

In a commencement address last Monday morning, President Herbert Gezork of Andover Newton Theological School, Newton Centre, declared, "The greatest threat to the Kingdom of God in our time is not those who explore new ways of bringing the Christian message to our contemporaries, but those who above all want to play it safe, who are bound to tradition, who forget that for the Christian the true dimension is not the past but the future."

President Gezork declared, "I still believe in the local humanity to man in street gangs, wars, concentration camps and racial conflict. But what shocks the Puritan is the new morality. In so far as the new morality stresses simple freedom from restraint, it shocks the Puritan because he sees that it is not a leap forward into new virtue but a falling backward into old vice; and in so far as the new morality dispenses all coded restraint with simple love, it shocks the Puritan because he cannot understand how modern man can be so horribly naive."

During the 15th commencement exercises, 90 graduates preparing for church vocations received degrees presented by Dr. Gezork and Dr. Roy Pearson, dean and president-elect of the nation's oldest Protestant seminary. They join the school's 1800 living alumni who serve in 47 states and 29 countries overseas.

Dr. Roy Pearson delivered the baccalaureate address Sunday evening in the First Church of Newton, Congregational, on the subject "The Naughty Puritan." He said, "Many people today are shocked by the revelations of human nature which have come to them from psychiatry; by the life reflected in contemporary novels and motion pictures; by man's inhumanity to man in street gangs, wars, concentration camps and racial conflict. But what shocks the Puritan is the new morality. In so far as the new morality stresses simple freedom from restraint, it shocks the Puritan because he sees that it is not a leap forward into new virtue but a falling backward into old vice; and in so far as the new morality dispenses all coded restraint with simple love, it shocks the Puritan because he cannot understand how modern man can be so horribly naive."

Matthew's account of the temptations which Jesus met and mastered in the wilderness will also be included in the selections from the Bible.

Action by the Board of Aldermen last week constituted a step toward adoption of home rule legislation for which the Massachusetts Legislature gave initial approval two years ago while sitting in Constitutional Convention.

It now requires the Legislature's second approval, and following that, the proposal will go on the ballot for acceptance by the voters of the Commonwealth.

On motion of Alderman Franklin N. Flaschner, it was voted by the Board members to recommend to the Newton representatives on Beacon Hill that they vote favorably on H-461, which calls for an amendment to the state constitution which would give to the cities and towns more freedom to conduct their own affairs.

The schedule of summer meetings of the Board was adopted as follows: Meetings of the full Board on Monday evenings, June 7 and 21, July 12, Aug. 2 and 23, Sept. 13, Oct. 4 and 18. The committee on Claims and Rules will meet as follows: June 14, July 19, Sept. 20, Oct. 11 and Nov. 8.

Other action Monday was as follows:

An appropriation of $10,020 requested by the director of public works for non-participating items in Chapter 90 recommendations for Winchester St., Newton Highlands, was approved.

Also approved were a public works appropriation of $2600 for sewer extension in Upland Rd., Newtonville, and one of $1385 for water main extension in Charlemont St., Newton Highlands.

It was voted to oppose petition by the state's outdoor advertising division for erection of a sign 30 feet long and 10 feet high on Boylston St., (Route 9) at Gasbarri Rd., Newton Centre.

Authority for Gulf Oil Corporation to locate an identification sign at 1354 Washington St., corner of Putnam St., West Newton, was granted with the provision that it be fixed and not of the flashing variety.

The Board voted to deny a claim for damages made by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond B. Pierce in behalf of their son, Raymond B. Jr., who was cut by broken glass in a pile of sand beside the road in March of 1964. The vote followed a recommendation by Harry H. Ham Jr., who said the boy, scholastic achievement.

Brian C. Donovan, senior at Tilton School, N.H., and son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Donovan, 19 Exeter St., West Newton, and Michael D. Myerow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Myerow, 142 Morton St., Newton Centre, a junior have been named to the honor roll as an indication of their

Miss Hjorth Is Ordained A Minister At Rites Here

On May 23 at 4 o'clock in the Newton Highlands Congregational Church, the service of ordination of Miss Judith Eileen Hjorth into the Christian ministry was conducted by the Metropolitan Boston Association of the United Church of Christ.

Participants in the service were Rev. John M. Balcom, rector, St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Newton Highlands; Rev. J. Leslie Dunstan, professor of Missions and Comparative Religion at the Andover Newton Theological School; Rev. Arthur Flager Fultz, clinical minister and director, Boston Y. M. C. A. Counseling Service; Rev. Lewis L. Gilbert, secretary of the Board of Pastoral Supply, United Church of Christ; Rev. Robert J. Harding, minister of Central Congregational Church, Newtonville; Rev. George P. Hellwell, minister of the Congregational Church, Kirkland, Wash.; Rev. Paul Guy Pitman, minister of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church; Rev. Hazel Ann Roper, minister of the Plainfield Community Baptist Church, Plainfield, N. H.; Rev. Frank M. Weiskel, minister of the First Church in Newton, Newton Centre, and Rev. William A. Zeckhausen, assistant minister of Old South Church, Boston.

Also taking part in the service was Edward H. Hastings, organist and choirmaster of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church; the senior choir and Miss Donna K. Hjorth, soloist.

Miss Hjorth is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin V. Hjorth of Kirkland, Wash. She was graduated from the University of Washington, at Seattle, in 1961 with the Bachelor of Arts Degree. On May 24, she received the Bachelor of Divinity Degree from Andover Newton Theological School. For two years Miss Hjorth has served on the staff of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church.

Miss Hjorth became a Licentiate of the Metropolitan Boston Association of the United Church of Christ in June of 1964, and with her service becomes a member with full ministerial standing in this conference and association.

The city's Purchasing Department has awarded a contract for $292,117 worth of swimming pool construction with Conti & Donahue, Lynn contractors, despite two pending law suits over construction of the Albermarle Play-ground facility.

The Purchasing Department action had the blessing of City Solicitor Matt. B. Jones.

A sub-bid for masonry by Conti & Donahue was the lowest at the time bids were opened, but because of a mix-up, the bid became the third lowest. In addition, the city ordered the general contractor to use the sub-bid for accessories and mechanical equipment by the Paddock Pool Company, which was $8,340 higher than that of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church.

Miss Hjorth became a Licentiate of the Metropolitan Boston Association of the United Church of Christ in June of 1964, and with her service becomes a member with full ministerial standing in this conference and association.

The Paddock bid was accepted in place of Whitten's on the ground that should there be pipe breakage, the Whitten installation would be costly to repair.

One of the pending suits was brought by the Tocci Company, which became the lowest bidder as a result of the change in the masonry sub-bids. The trial date has been set for the first week in June. The other suit was brought by the Whitten Company, which claims that its system is equal to the Paddock method. Counsel has been ordered to submit briefs by tomorrow (Friday).
